(a) If you are a candidate for Family Court, please provide a brief written description of your experience within each of the following Family Court practice areas: divorce and equitable division of property, child custody, adoption, abuse and neglect, and juvenile justice. Include information about cases you have handled in each of these practice areas, or if you have not practiced in an area, describe how your background and procedural knowledge has prepared you to preside over such matters as a Family Court Judge. Please also indicate the frequency of your appearances before a Family Court Judge within the past five years.

Further, please provide a brief written description of your experience in civil matters, including any cases handled over the past five years and include a brief description of the types of matters handled, issues involved, and procedural history. Please include information such as the primary areas in civil court in which you practice, whether you represent plaintiffs or defendants, or both. You may go back further than five years if you feel it would assist the Commission with its assessment of your experience. If you lack experience in an area, describe how your background and procedural knowledge has prepared you to preside over such matters as a Circuit Court Judge, or how you would compensate for your lack of experience in this area. Please also indicate the frequency of your appearances before a Circuit Court Judge within the past five years.

Criminal – In the past five years as a Deputy Solicitor for the Eleventh Judicial Circuit Solicitor’s Office, in addition to bond hearings; motion hearings; guilty pleas; and status conferences; I have tried fifteen (15) jury trials. Fourteen (14) of those were Murder trials and the other trial was an Armed Robbery with a Failure to Stop for a Blue Light Resulting in Death.

Civil – As a full time prosecuting attorney, I am unable to practice Civil law. As an experienced trial attorney, I am extremely well versed in the Rules of Evidence that applies equally to both Criminal and Civil matters. I worked briefly for a Civil firm primarily focusing on Insurance defense at the beginning of my legal career. I also stay abreast of the law by reading the advance sheets. I would compensate for my lack of experience by focusing my reading and continuing legal education requirements in Civil areas of law. In addition, I would consult with more experienced judges as needed.

I have had well over one hundred appearances before a Circuit Court Judge within the past five years, including: bond hearings; motion hearings; guilty pleas; status conferences; and jury trials.

20. List five of the most significant litigated matters you have personally handled in either trial or appellate court or before a state or federal agency. Give citations if the cases were reported and describe why these matters were significant.
- (a) State v. Mercer, 381 S.C. 149, 627 S.E.2d 556 (2009). This was a death penalty case. Kevin Mercer was convicted of murdering Sergeant First Class Tracy Davis and stealing his Lincoln Navigator. Mercer was found guilty of murder; armed robbery; and possession of a weapon during the commission of a violent crime. He was sentenced to death. The South Carolina Supreme Court affirmed Mercer's convictions and sentence of death. The Supreme Court affirmed the trial court's decision to exclude the testimony from Mercer's Co-defendant's attorney as to the charges the co-defendant faced.
 - (b) State v. Finklea, 388 S.C. 379, 697 S.E.2d 543 (2010). This was a death penalty case. Ron O. Finklea was convicted of murdering Walter Sykes, a security guard at the Selectron plant in Lexington County. Finklea was found guilty of murder and was sentenced to death. The South Carolina Supreme Court affirmed Finklea's conviction and sentence of death. At trial, Finklea claimed amnesia of the events and thereby asserted that he was not competent to stand trial. The trial court found Finklea competent to stand trial and the South Carolina Supreme Court agreed.
 - (c) State v. Butler, 407 S.C. 376, 755 S.E.2d 457 (2014). Beulah Butler was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the death of her boyfriend, Tarquinius Leonard Russel. The South Carolina Supreme Court affirmed the conviction. The Supreme Court was asked to determine the proper standard on a motion for a directed verdict in a case involving self-defense. At trial and on appeal, Butler's attorneys argued that the proper standard in self-defense case required the State to disprove self-defense beyond a reasonable doubt. The South Carolina Supreme Court affirmed the decision and found that the trial court had properly denied the motion for a directed verdict. The court concluded that Butler's injuries were not consistent with her testimony; that there was sufficient evidence to create a jury issue, and that viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the State the motion for directed verdict was properly denied.
 - (d) State v. Lynch, 412 S.C. 156, 771 S.E.2d 346 (Ct.App. 2015). This was a death penalty case. Kenneth Andrew Lynch was convicted of murdering Portia Washington and her granddaughter Angelica Livingston. Their bodies were never found. In a bench trial, Lynch was found guilty of two counts of murder and grand larceny of Washington's car. Lynch was sentenced to life in prison for the murder and ten (10) years for the theft. At trial, the defense argued that the State had failed to present substantial circumstantial evidence that Lynch killed the victims; was present at the scene of the crime; and had stolen Washington's car. The South Carolina Court of Appeals disagreed and affirmed the convictions. Testimony showed that Washington would have never loaned her car to anyone; that Lynch was the last person seen with Washington; that Lynch admitted to seeing Washington the day before the murder occurred; and that blood belonging to Livingston found in the house was indicative of an assault. The court also found that there was substantial evidence of flight in Lynch's cross country attempt to flee. The Court of Appeals additionally affirmed the trial court's jury charge on circumstantial evidence and its rulings on search and seizure issues.

- (e) State v. Brockmeyer, 406 S.C. 324, 751 S.E.2d 645 (2013). Brockmeyer was convicted of murder and Possession of a weapon during the commission of a violent crime in the shooting death of Nicholas Rae. The South Carolina Supreme Court affirmed the conviction. The Supreme Court held that the log maintained by SLED as to chain of custody of evidence was non-testimonial in nature and that the custodian of the record's testimony did not implicate the defendant's right of confrontation under Crawford. The Supreme Court opined that the State had adequately proven the chain of custody for the items recovered by police investigators.

30. Please explain why you think you meet the professional and academic ability criteria for the seat you seek.

Some of the best judges that I have appeared in front of were experienced trial attorneys prior to being elected to the bench. They knew the law and procedures, but they also understood the importance of the give and take that is an intrinsic part of trial work. As a trial attorney for the past twenty years, I believe that I am well versed in fundamental legal principles along with both procedural and evidentiary rules. In delivering closing arguments to a jury, arguments to the court, and in writing legal briefs and memos, I have learned to communicate in a style that is clear and persuasive.

As far as the academic criteria, I have complied with the South Carolina rules for continuing legal education and have always kept apprised of recent court decisions. I have been a speaker for trainings for prosecutors, law enforcement, and victim advocates. In addition, while in law school I was honored to be chosen by my professors to be both an editor for the nationally published Real Property Probate and Trust Journal and a team captain for one of two ABA National Appellate Advocacy Teams. In successfully handling serious criminal cases, I believe that I have the intellectual capacity to interpret legal principles; apply them to factual situations; and concisely, clearly and logically communicate the reasoning supporting my position.

I have been a prosecuting attorney for the past twenty years. A prosecutor represents the people and not an individual. A prosecutor is to seek justice and not win at any cost. In every case, I have handled, I have always done what I thought was right, fair, and just. I have always treated victims, witnesses, opposing attorneys and defendants with respect. I have had to manage my docket. I have dismissed cases when there has been a lack of evidence to prosecute. I have dismissed cases against innocent persons when they were falsely accused. I have sent first time offenders to Pre-Trial Intervention (PTI) because they deserved a second chance. I have reduced charges when the facts haven't supported the charge. I have negotiated cases and recommended defendants receive probation because it was appropriate given the facts and circumstances. I have negotiated pleas that sent people to prison when that is what was deserved. I have tried the case when the facts and the law have convinced me of the defendant's guilt and they refused to accept responsibility or reach a plea agreement. In my career as a prosecutor, I have had the discretion, authority, and responsibility to do justice.
