- The agency, through an Arts Recovery Grant from the National Endowment for the Arts, helped preserve 130 arts-sector jobs across the state.

• 2010-2011

- o The new Long Range Plan for the Arts in S.C. was produced. Based on research and a statewide public input process (Canvas of the People), the plan established a vision for the arts for the next decade.
- o The Rural Arts Exchange addressed the needs, challenges, and successes of rural arts providers.
- o After a successful pilot in 2010, the agency implemented a new program of operating support for small arts organizations.
- To support cultural tourism, the agency partnered with S.C. Parks, Recreation and Tourism to launch eArts, a digital newsletter promoting arts events to more than 12,000 monthly subscribers.

• 2011-2012

- o In light of reduced staffing levels and budget, the agency moved to a smaller location at 1026 Sumter Street in downtown Columbia, realizing significant savings in rent and energy costs.
- SCAC published South Carolina's Creative Cluster: A Catalyst for Economic Development, documenting the role of S.C.'s arts-based industries in supporting $9.2 billion in economic output and more than 78,000 jobs in the Palmetto State.
- o The Participation Project, supported by a grant from the Wallace Foundation, brought together a reunion of program participants over the last 10 years to discuss successes, challenges and plans for the future.

• 2012-2013

- o The agency navigated an eight-day shutdown when a veto of the agency budget occurred after the start of the new fiscal year.
- o The agency was named one of the top 10 state agencies in achieving its Affirmative Action goals.
- The nationally recognized Arts in Basic Curriculum (ABC) Project celebrated its 25th anniversary with a month-long series of articles, web posts and events around the state.

o The agency launched the Hub, a new dynamic website designed to promote the arts and the agency to the state and beyond. The site won several design awards and was honored by the State Library as one of South Carolina's 10 Most Notable State Documents.

• 2013-2014

- SCAC's recommendations for a cultural district designation were incorporated into legislation that directed the Arts Commission to develop and manage a cultural districts program. 2014 Act No. 232 (S.1172)
- The agency secured $1 million in new recurring grant funds to support community arts activities, artists and school-based arts programs.
- Following a review by the Legislative Audit Council in FY2013, the agency took steps to address recommendations regarding budget practices, financial reports, performance measures and tracking the grants history of underserved counties.

• 2014-2015

- Responding to new research on the state of arts education in the South, the Arts Commission led the formation of the 2014 Arts Education Task Force, which developed recommendations for the state to make new strides in arts education.
- After assisting several communities with planning and the application process, SCAC designated the state's first three official cultural districts: Rock Hill, Spartanburg and Lancaster.

• 2015-2016

- The Art of Community: Rural SC launched with a focus on the six S.C. counties in the federally designated Promise Zone. The initiative is a new framework for how the agency approaches its work in rural areas.
- SCAC and partners hosted "Drink Small Day" in Columbia, celebrating legendary blues musician Drink Smalls, who was named a National Heritage Fellow by the National Endowment for the Arts.
- o The agency secured $1,000,000 in new, recurring EIA funds to support arts education expansion and increase access. These funds enabled the agency to restore the arts education staff position, which had been vacant since 2010, and implement a new grants program -- Education Pilot Projects -- to support summer and after-school arts programs for children.
- o SCAC added three new cultural districts (Beaufort, Bluffton and Columbia's Congaree Vista) bringing the total to six.

• 2016-2017

- SCAC launched a new online grants application and management system, offering a more intuitive and customer-friendly process.
- o SCAC staff led a redesign of a new website for the ABC Project. The improved site serves as a digital hub for arts education and

- resources for ABC sites (schools and districts that receive ABC Advancement grants.)
- Continued summer education pilot projects, serving 100 students in Clarendon School District 1 at STEAM camps in partnership with Engaging Creative Minds and serving 40 students in Williamsburg School District's Read to Succeed camp in partnership with the Governor's School for the Arts and Humanities and USC.
- o Florence earns cultural district status, bringing the total to seven.

• 2017-2018

- o SCAC celebrated 50 years of public support for the arts with 15 months of exhibitions and events around the state.
- A new study of the economic impact of the arts, commissioned by SCAC, showed that the arts-related sector adds $9.7 billion to the state's economy through nearly 115,000 jobs and $269 million in tax revenue.
- Janae Claxton, a high school student from Charleston, won the national Poetry Out Loud competition, becoming the first S.C. student to win the national title in the 13 years the Arts Commission has offered the state program.
- Charleston Rhizome Collective was awarded the first ever ArtPlace America grant in S.C. This $300,000 award was a result of the Arts Commission's work with S.C. arts organizations and ArtPlace America over several years.
- Greenwood earns cultural district status, bringing the total to eight.

• 2018-2019

- o For the first time in recent history, the agency awarded grants in all 46 counties, awarding $4.3 million through 458 grants.
- The agency launched a new mobile-friendly website.
- o Findings from a Gallup Student Poll that surveyed 8,287 S.C. students in 30 arts-rich schools showed that students in arts-focused schools report higher hope and engagement than the national mean. South Carolina was the first state to use this national poll to study the impact of the arts in schools.
- The Art of Community: Rural SC added three counties (Berkeley) to the six original counties (Allendale, Bamberg, Barnwell, Colleton, Hampton, Jasper) for a total of nine.
- o SCAC was named 2019 Grantmaker of the Year for the public sector by the national Grant Professionals Association.

5. Qualifications and duties of the agency director and governing body, as specified in law.

Qualifications of the governing body

Commissioners are to be private citizens known for professional competence and experience in connection with the interpretative and creative arts.

Duties

SECTION 60-15-30

The Commission shall designate an executive director to serve at the pleasure of the Commission and who shall be the chief executive officer of the Commission.

SECTION 60-15-60. Duties of commission.

The duties of the Commission shall include but not be limited to the following:

- (1) To stimulate and encourage throughout the State the study and presentation of the performing and fine arts and public interest and participation therein;
- (2) To make such studies as may be deemed advisable of public and private institutions engaged within the State in artistic and cultural activities, including but not limited to music, theater, dance, painting, sculpture, architecture and allied arts and crafts, and to make recommendations concerning appropriate methods to encourage participation in and appreciation of the arts to meet the legitimate needs and aspirations of persons in all parts of the State;

- (3) To take such steps as may be necessary and appropriate to encourage public interest in the cultural heritage of the State of South Carolina and to expand the State's cultural resources; and
 - (4) To do such other things as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter.

SECTION 60-15-70. Powers of commission.

The Commission is hereby authorized to hold public or private hearings; to enter into contracts, within the amount made available by appropriation therefor, with individuals, organizations and institutions for services furthering the educational objectives of the Commission's programs; to enter into contracts, within the amount made available by appropriation therefor, with local and regional associations for cooperative endeavors furthering the educational objectives of the Commission's programs; to accept gifts, contributions and bequests of an unrestricted nature from individuals, foundations, corporations and other organizations or institutions for the purpose of furthering the educational objectives of the Commission's programs; to purchase and own property, both real and personal; to make and sign any agreements and to do and perform any acts that may be necessary, desirable or proper to carry out the purposes of this chapter. The Commission may request and shall receive from any department or agency of the State such assistance and data as will enable it to carry out its power and duties.

The director's only duty in law is to serve at the pleasure of the Commission and be the chief executive officer of the Commission as stated in S.C. Code Section 60-15-30. There are more detailed qualifications and duties outlined in the director's position description, which states:

Qualifications

Bachelor's degree with a major in arts administration or an arts related field, business or public administration, or educational leadership and policies. Experience should include a minimum of 5 years work at the senior management level such as: Executive Dir. of a large metropolitan arts council; state arts agency management; major city or state arts institution; major performing arts or educational facility; major presenting company; Dean of a Fine Arts School at a university or college; Executive or Deputy Director at a regional or national arts organization. Prefer a master's degree with a major in arts administration or an arts related field, business or public administration, or educational leadership and policies. Prefer eight (8) or more years of proven professional management and supervisory experience in state, federal or local arts development, arts program administration, or a related field

Duties

Arts Planning, Development and Positioning

Leads the development and implementation of the agency strategic plan, short and long-term. The strategic plan identifies priorities, objectives and strategies that respond to the current climate while meeting the needs of the state. Assists in the design and allocation of agency resources for arts and grants programs to accomplish the objectives and goals of the agency's strategic plan.

Arts Policy and Resource Development

Advises the Board of Commissioners on arts policy development. In collaboration with the Board of Commissioners, solicits and raises funds and identifies resources from federal, state, corporate, foundation and individual sources, to ensure the highest quality in arts offerings to the citizens of the state and to advance the cultural and economic development of the state's arts industry.

Grant Allocations

Ensures a fair and equitable grants program exists, that is well publicized to constituents and awards funding to a variety of constituents, organizations, schools and artists. Assists in ensuring that statewide grant funds are disbursed to recipients in a timely manner and that grant guidelines and processes are continually refined to simplify access and streamline internal procedures. Also assists in ensuring that opportunities to expand and increase grants funding are explored and an evaluation process is developed to ensure awarded funds are utilized in the specified manner.

Legislative Relations

Communicates regularly with key legislators (subcommittee and committee members, etc.), members of the arts caucuses, House and Senate leadership, staff, and others, providing relevant information on matters related to the agency's work, its budget, and legislation with potential impact on the creative industries and the arts.

Financial Management

Ensures that an annual balanced budget is presented to the board and that state, federal and other funds are secured to support the agency's activities. Assists in ensuring that effective internal fiscal controls exist, and financial reporting is accurate and meets deadlines. Assists in ensuring the budget is monitored and adjusted as needed and year-end financial reports indicate adherence to budget provisos.

Board Relations

Communicates regularly with Commissioners providing thorough and relevant information on matters of agency policy and programs and solicits input and decision making by the Commissioners as appropriate and according to agency policy.

Partnership Relations

Ensures networking and information exchanges occur and that membership and leadership positions are held on national and regional arts organization boards to strengthen South Carolina's position as a regional and national leader in the arts. Assists in ensuring a variety of partnerships throughout the arts community with individual businesses, state, regional and national groups are initiated and that a strong rapport with members of the General Assembly, US Congress, county and municipal governments is developed and maintained.

Communications

Ensures marketing programs, plans and high-quality materials promote the programs of the Commission and that oversight is maintained for all publications, newsletters, electronic marketing tools and Board materials. Assists in ensuring agency vision, values, Long-Range Plan and Strategic Plan are communicated to all employees. Assists in ensuring that information about the agency and its programs is easily accessible to the public and that the agency is responsive to requests for information from the public.

Evaluation

Reviews performance of staff to meet objectives of agency's strategic plan. Assists in ensuring feedback systems exist to collect information and reflect constituents' interests, expectations and satisfaction and that planning processes exist to address future constituent needs. Assists in ensuring data and information is analyzed and used to make improvements in programs and the organization.

Staffing

Ensures recruitment, selection and hiring processes exist which deliver exceptional talent to administer the work of the agency. Assists in ensuring staff is empowered, self-directed, trusting and works cooperatively to fulfill the mission of the agency. Assists in ensuring an employee evaluation system exists to measure individual performance, to provide feedback and to develop employee potential. Assists in ensuring that an employee compensation, benefits, opportunities, recognition and development programs exist. Assists in ensuring workforce planning and needs analysis occurs on a regular basis.

Administration

Ensures administrative and operational policies and procedures exist to manage the agency and that internal program policies and procedures are in effect. Assists in ensuring the agency is in compliance with state and federal laws, rules and regulations and that evaluation processes exist to review and recommend improvements to agency procedures, operations and interdepartmental workflow.

6. (A) Organizational Units Details Chart.

See attached Excel chart.

(B) Has the agency ever conducted an employee engagement, climate, or similar survey? If yes, when was the last one and who conducted it?

Each staff member participated in a Gallup StrengthsFinders assessment in August 2019.

(C) Does the agency conduct employee engagement, climate, or similar surveys on a regular basis? If yes, what is the frequency?

No

7. Role and responsibilities of the agency compared to its counterpart entities, if any, at the federal and local levels.

Federal counterparts

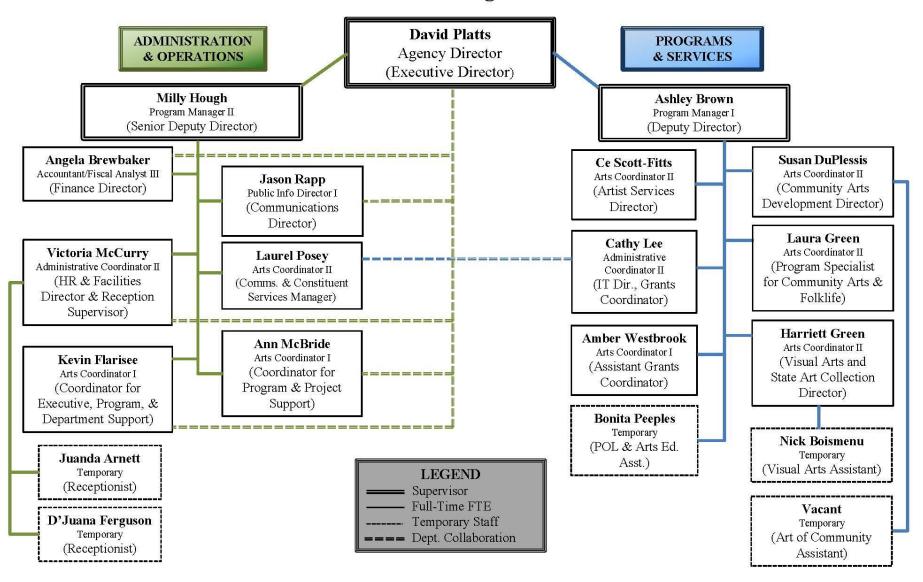

National Endowment of the Arts

Established by Congress in 1965, the NEA is the independent federal agency whose funding and support gives Americans the opportunity to participate in the arts, exercise their imaginations, and develop their creative capacities. Through partnerships with state arts agencies, local leaders, other federal agencies, and the philanthropic sector, the NEA supports arts learning, affirms and celebrates America's rich and diverse cultural heritage, and extends its work to promote equal access to the arts in every community across America. Visit arts.gov to learn more.

Local counterparts

SCAC awards grants to local arts councils and other community-based arts organizations around the state. These funds help strengthen arts organizations that bring ongoing arts experiences and services to individuals, communities, and other organizations. While the SCAC does not have any regulatory relationship with these local organizations, they are vital partners in ensuring that state dollars support our mission of ensuring all citizens benefit from the arts. As grantees, these organizations submit reports and data related to their SCAC grants and are happy to host us for local meetings or collaborate in other ways.

S.C. Arts Commission Organizational Structure

Board Version: Rev. Aug. 2019 (FY:20)

8. 3-4 agency successes.

1. Strategic Grant Making

With a mandate to serve all South Carolinians, the Arts Commission is consistently focused on providing access to the arts for all citizens. Our strategic plan addresses this fundamental mandate in Outcome 1: SC citizens and visitors benefit from diverse opportunities for relevant, rewarding arts experiences in communities throughout the state. Our successes, challenges and emerging issues have a common theme – improving access for all, with an emphasis on expanding access to underserved communities.

In FY2019, for the first time in recent history, the Arts Commission awarded grants in all 46 counties. This milestone is the result of years of targeted relationship building and strategic grant offerings. Much of our attention has been on counties that receive less than one grant per year, based on a threeyear average. This list of "opportunity" counties was created after a 2013 review by the Legislative Audit Council. Since FY2018, we have pared the list from 11 counties to one county for FY2020. Our Horizon Grant supports grassroots arts programming through a simple interview application process. This work requires intensive one-on-one staff time with potential applicants, but the payoff is additional grant opportunities for rural and underserved communities. For FY2019, the agency awarded seven Horizon grants, up from four in FY2018. Applications for our Operating Support for Small Organizations grant more than doubled (from 20 to 47) after we revised the grant guidelines, which allowed more equitable funds distribution. We changed the grant cycle from one year to two years, reduced the required funding match from 2 to 1 to 1 to 1, and opened the application to non-arts organizations that offer regular arts programming. We are also happy to note that the Grant Professionals Association named the Arts Commission the 2019 Grantmaker of the Year in the public sector category. The agency was recognized for its commitment to one-on-one technical support, developing relationships, and being available for advisement throughout the process, despite having a small staff.

2. Rural Community Development

The agency's rural development initiative, The Art of Community: Rural S.C., was launched in 2016 with six counties in S.C.'s federally designated Promise Zone (Barnwell, Bamberg, Allendale, Hampton, Colleton and Jasper). The Art of Community created a new framework for how the Arts Commission approaches our work in rural regions of the state. The program develops new leaders and encourages action to address issues, while increasing understanding of how arts and culture can be used as community development tools. Three counties were added in FY2019, and six additional counties were added in early FY2020 for a total of 15. The Art of Community initiative has led to national attention, and the program director has participated in 25 state, regional or national conferences to present the program as a model for building community, economic opportunity and local infrastructure in rural and high-poverty communities.

3. Arts Education

Outcome 3 in our strategic plan guides our work in arts education: Students receive a comprehensive education in the arts that develops their creativity, problem solving and collaborative skills, and prepares them for a lifetime of engagement with the arts and productive citizenship.

The agency secured an additional $1 million in recurring state appropriations (EIA funds) beginning in FY2016. Some of these funds were used to create Education Pilot Projects, which are arts-based projects with community partners to serve students living in high poverty and rural areas. Students in our Summer STEAM camp pilot program (Clarendon I) experienced an increase in MAP (Measures of Academic Progress) reading scores, and students in Read to Succeed Drama camps (Jasper, Williamsburg) scored higher than their peers (who did not experience the drama portion of reading camp) in aptitude for divergent thinking, desire to read, and MAP and STAR reading scores.

In FY2019, we received the results of the 2018 Gallup Student Poll that surveyed 8,287 S.C. students in 30 arts-rich schools. Findings show that these students in arts-focused schools report higher hope and engagement than the national mean, and the longer a school has been focused on the arts, the greater the effects. Hopeful and/or engaged students are more likely to strongly agree they do well in school. The study also shows that students in arts-rich schools with high levels of free/reduced lunch score higher than the national mean in engagement, hope, entrepreneurial aspiration, and career/financial literacy. South Carolina was the first state to use this national poll to study the impact of the arts in schools.

4. Artists as Entrepreneurs

Our work with artists is guided by Outcome 2 in our strategic plan: SC's professional artists have opportunities to produce excellent art and build satisfying, sustainable careers in our state.

In February 2018, we released a new study of the economic impact of the arts conducted by Dr. Douglas Woodward, chief research economist at the University of S.C.'s Moore School of Business. Using data from the U.S. Census and the U.S. Department of Commerce, S.C.'s Arts-Related Economic Cluster confirms the substantial economic value of creative industries in S.C., which add $9.7 billion to the state's economy through jobs (nearly 115,000), tax revenue ($269 million) and spending. Artists in all disciplines (visual, performing, literary, and media arts) are small businesses contributing to that tax revenue. Through the Artists Ventures Initiative (AVI) program, we offer startup capital and intensive in-person and individual professional development over an 18-month period, enabling artists to create or expand arts-based businesses. We offer intensive career development workshops through our partnership with Artists U, a Philadelphia-based professional development program for artists. AVI has successfully supported a range of ventures—a furniture maker who rescues landfill-bound trees, a bladesmith who makes high-end chefs' knives, a touring kindie-rock/puppet musical, and a traveling tintype photographer. More than 400 artists have gone through Artists U.

9. 3-4 agency challenges. Briefly describe 3-4 agency challenges and preparations, if any, to address these issues.

1. Arts Education

For 32 years, South Carolina's Arts in Basic Curriculum (ABC) Project has been a national model in striving to provide high quality, standards-based education in all arts disciplines for all students. The current structure ties receiving an ABC grant to being an ABC "site" — a school or school district committed to making the arts part of basic curriculum and daily classroom instruction. The benefits of being a site also include access to programming and a network. With a realization that this model does not allow us to fulfill our mission to serve all S.C. students, the Arts Commission has revamped the program to allow individual teachers, schools and school districts to take part in programs, the network, and/or grants, depending upon their needs on a continuum of services and capacity. This new model rolled out in March 2020.

2. Staff Capacity

As we work to increase access to the arts, staff capacity is a challenge. Many smaller communities lack traditional arts infrastructure (arts councils, e.g.), which requires more hands-on staff assistance to connect those communities to our programs. Although we have made great strides in reaching some of these communities through The Art of Community: Rural S.C., that program currently has only one full-time staff person, occasionally assisted by staff members with other primary duties. In FY2010, the agency had 24 staff members; we currently have 15. FY2019 was the fourth year of a multi-year period of staff transitions, primarily due to planned retirements. Three vacated jobs were restructured in early 2020 to more closely align with our core functions, adding a second community arts staff member, a program support coordinator, and an artist services director. We have also sought new partners and collaborators who can help expand our reach into underserved communities beyond our staff capacities.

3. Funding

Funding is an ongoing challenge as we strive to reach more communities and citizens. We are grateful for the bipartisan support of the General Assembly and were fortunate to receive an additional $1 million in state appropriations to support grant making and programs in FY2014. Our FY2020 state appropriations equal .69 cents per capita, and our goal is $1. Our FY2021 request would move us to .85 cents per capita if approved. This funding level would almost return us to the agency's funding level prior to 2008.

10. 3-4 emerging issues.

Briefly describe 3-4 emerging issues anticipated to have an impact on agency operations in the upcoming five years and preparations, if any, to address these issues.

1. Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

While we strive to model diversity in our own staffing and have regularly reached 100% of the agency's affirmative action goals, we recognize that our programs and systems need to be reviewed through the Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) lens. FY2019 staff development included racial equity training. An internal staff DEI team has begun a review of our grants, programs, and customer service procedures with the aim to improve what we offer, whom we serve and how they connect to our services. We have formed new partnerships with the Hispanic Alliance of S.C., which will serve as a conduit to Hispanic and Latinx citizens, and with Red Olive Consulting, which specializes in advising small arts and culture groups in communities of color. Both partners will work with us to expand our reach. We have also partnered with the Coastal Community Foundation to administer that organization's Expansion Arts Fund, which supports the work of new and emerging arts groups and artists, especially those from minority, rural or disadvantaged communities in the foundation's eight-county service area.

2. Technology

In FY2017, we launched a new, customer-friendly online grants system, and in FY2019, we launched a new mobile-compatible website. We have begun offering grants training videos and webinars and will do more in the future. Our continued efforts to use technology to supplement in-person and phone interactions include hosting online meetings to be more efficient and reduce time out of the office. We recently upgraded our online meeting service to allow multiple online meetings agencywide, from a one-on-one advisement to large gatherings of participants from around the state and beyond. Staff have also embraced a more collaborative use of online calendar and scheduling tools. We will continue to explore new ways to use technology in a cost-effective way.

3. Collaborating With New Partners

Our FY2021 budget request includes funding for a pilot program to provide arts therapy services to members of the military and their families. If we receive this funding, we would work with partners already carrying out successful military arts programming. This is another example of extending arts access through grant support, but without having to commit staff time or duplicate the good work of other organizations. We currently collaborate with partners to carry out our work and as issues and opportunities arise, we actively seek other partners who share our values and support our mission to enhance the quality of life in our communities through the arts.

II. Agency Records, Policies, and Risk Mitigation Practices

A. Records and Policies Management

11. (A) Agency's records management policy and the position or division responsible for managing this policy.

See attached policy Agency Records Officer – Kevin Flarisee

(B) Agency's status in regards to compliance with the records management policy and explanation for non-compliance, if the agency is non-compliant.

Our agency is compliant and reporting of record destruction is in accordance with Retention/Disposition schedules on an end-of-fiscal-year basis, or as needed

12. Agency's schedule for regularly reviewing and updating, as necessary, all agency policies and explanation for lack of a schedule, if the agency does not have a schedule.

Policies are reviewed annually and updated as needed. The Records Officer attends the S.C. Department of Archives and History annual Records Management Training Session to make sure the agencies policies are still in accordance and to learn about any new revisions to the state's practice of records management.

13. (A) Agency's status in regards to compliance with S.C. Code Ann. §1-23-120(J) that requires agencies to conduct a formal review of its regulations every five years.	The Arts Commission is not authorized to promulgate regulations.
(B) Last time the agency conducted a formal review of its regulations.	N/A
(C) Last time the agency submitted new or revised regulations to the General Assembly.	N/A
14. How the agency collaborates with other agencies to seek funding (e.g. grant and federal funding).	The agency does not collaborate with other state agencies to seek funding; however, we support efforts by partnership agencies to seek mutually beneficial funding – e.g. Department of Education state funding for arts education grants. We strive to make S.C. arts organizations and artists aware of other grant opportunities (state, regional and federal) and assist or advise as appropriate. For example, some arts organizations are eligible to apply directly to the National Endowment for the Arts for project-based grants. We promote those opportunities and advise organizations on application preparation if requested.
15. Does the agency receive data from other state agencies, which require manual entry? If so, identify the state agencies and the associated data received.	No

B. Internal Audit and/or Other Risk Mitigation Practices

16. (A) Agency's internal audit process and/or other risk mitigation practices.

The Arts Commission is a small agency that does not employ a full-time auditor. There is a defined workflow to ensure separation of duties within the constraints of a small staff. For example, the Finance Director is not involved directly in preparing or approving requisitions. The Human Resources Director also manages the facility, inventory and insurance policies. The Procurement Officer also manages the agency's fleet services (one vehicle.) The Finance Director, Procurement Officer and the Human Resources Director report to the Senior Deputy Director, who independently verifies internal reviews. Internal auditing processes include annual tracking of all non-capital and capital assets; quarterly reconciling of employee leave; bi-monthly reconciling of payroll; monthly reconciling of mileage on the agency's one leased vehicle, and monthly procurement reviews to ensure that goods and services have been received and paid for within state guidelines. There is an annual review of agency insurance policies. See the chart below for more details.

The Arts Commission prioritizes accountability and transparency in disbursing grant awards. Grant payments must go through four steps (and four different staff members) before distribution to grantees: 1. Grants Assistant verifies that the grantee has meet the requirements for being paid and prepares documentation. 2. Deputy Director (who supervises the Grants Assistant) approves the documentation, which is then sent to the Finance Director. 3. Finance Director prepares the payment through SCEIS. 4. Senior Deputy Director (who supervises the Finance Director) verifies accuracy of payment details and approves the payment. After grants are paid, the Finance Director submits reports to the Grants Assistant, who records payments in the grantee database. This multi-step process improves accuracy and ensures that grant funds are spent in accordance with grant category guidelines and funding source requirements.

The financial records (balance sheet and statement of activities) are reviewed monthly and presented quarterly to the Board of Commissioners for approval. We receive clean audits with few exceptions annually from the State Auditor's Office.

Agency feedback

22. (A) Other questions that may help the Committee and public understand how the agency operates, budgets, and performs
(B) Best ways for the Committee to compare the specific results the agency obtained with the resources the agency invested	The results that focus on numbers – number of grants, number of counties, number of dollars granted – can be studied in relation to our state appropriation level and other funding. Programmatic results that do not involve grants are a little harder to analyze because we do not track hourly staff time necessary to educate and advise arts organizations and artists. However, our history timeline and narrative portions of this report speak to those results. We also recommend reviewing our Accountability Report.
(C) Changes to the report questions, format, etc., agency representatives would recommend.	We might have some suggestions after our committee presentation. None of us involved in this report were directly involved in our last review, which was under the Legislative Audit Council in 2013, however, we believe this current process is more streamlined and agency-focused.
(D) Benefits agency representatives see in the public having access to the information in this report.	Increasing the public's knowledge of the agency's work on behalf of the arts statewide.
(E) Two to three things agency representatives could do differently next time (or it could advise other agencies to do) to complete the report in less time and at a lower cost to the agency.	Take full advantage of House Oversight staff offers to help early and often. W were fortunate to be able to do this and gained valuable advice about our report and presentation.
(F) Other comments or suggestions from the agency.	We appreciate the opportunity to present the agency's work with this in-dept process.

Headquartered in Philadelphia, Artists U is a grassroots planning and professional development program run by and for artists. Workshop leaders are South Carolina artists who have completed Artists U training, SCAC awards a grant to to the in-state administrator (currently PURE Theatre in Charleston) to cover most of the program costs. Artists pay a nominal fee to attend multi-day training; other training is offered at no charge.	ArtsGrow SC was launched in FY2017 as a partnership with CommunityWorks, a community development financial organization in Greenville, S.C. Program was suspended midway through FY2019 due to barriers to entry and staff turnover at the Arts Commission and at CommunityWorks. We are exploring other options.	Biennial contest – no contest held in FY2018.

FHA awards are a partnership with USC's McKissick Museum	Prior to 2016-2017, the Arts Commission was not involved in selecting previous poet laureates. Employee time listed above involved our previous Executive Director working with the legislature to make this change in the law in order to ensure artistic quality and establish terms for future poet laureates. Additional employee time includes communicating with the governor's office about the selection process and communicating with the current poet laureate, as she is ready to step down. The law was passed in April 2018, but the Code wasn't updated until August 2019.
