Shaw Industries operates a hardwood flooring plant at Tyger River Correctional Institution and is renovating a facility at Perry Correctional Institution.

The facility at Perry has been in the works for almost a year and is expected to employ about 50 inmates, plus supervisors from Shaw. It is in the final stages of approval from various state agencies and is expected to open in February 2020.

The work at Perry is an operation that will apply finishing touches on hardwood flooring, like polish and veneer top coats. Inmates in this program will be paid by Shaw at least minimum wage.

This program is operated under the guidelines of the federal Prison Industries Enhancement Program as certified by the Bureau of Justice Assistance. This approval is required as well as approval from the S.C. Department of Commerce, which determines that private sector jobs are not displaced by inmate labor.

It is our understanding that this is different from the products produced at Shaw's Clinton plant.

SCDC learned that Shaw would be closing its Clinton plant on Friday, June 21, 2019.

SCDC is working with Shaw to schedule a job fair and identify opportunities for displaced workers.

COLUMBIA, S.C. – Today, SCDC moved Death Row from Kirkland Correctional Institution to Broad River Correctional Institution to the unit originally built to house these inmates in 1988.

This move will address some of the concerns raised in a recent lawsuit filed on behalf of the Death Row inmates.

Space at Broad River was freed up when the Department of Mental Health's Sexually Violent Predator unit was moved to a new DMH facility on the Broad River campus.

For most of the Death Row inmates, the new unit will operate more like a general population dorm. They will not interact with the general population at Broad River.

Most of the inmates will have jobs on the unit such as serving meals, cleaning the common areas, laundry or assisting fellow inmates with disabilities. They also will have the opportunity to worship together in services coordinated by the institution chaplain.

For the past year, the agency has worked to strengthen the unit's security measures to house these inmates. Before renovation plans were set, agency leadership visited Death Row facilities in other states and brought back ideas and best practices to incorporate in both the physical layout and programming.

Today's move went smoothly and was completed before noon. The inmates packed their rooms this morning and the items were searched and inventoried. They carried their bags to the buses and boarded them for the short ride to Broad River. All movement on the prison complex was stopped until the inmates were secured inside the new unit, and the S.C. Law Enforcement Division helicopter watched from above. Both institutions are behind the security gate that faces Broad River Road, and there was no chance for interaction with the general public.

The staff who worked on Death Row at Kirkland transferred with the inmates and will now work at Broad River. South Carolina has 38 inmates on Death Row, but one is incarcerated in California for crimes committed there.

Death Row was housed at Broad River when the institution opened in 1988. It was moved to Lieber Correctional Institution in Ridgeville in 1997, where it remained for two decades. SCDC moved it Kirkland in Columbia in 2017 in part because the tight labor market in the Charleston region made it difficult to retain staff.

"We are glad to be able to return this unit to its original purpose," S.C. Department of Corrections Director Bryan Stirling said.

The agency Rapid Response and Special Operations Response teams, with the assistance of SCDC Police Services and SLED, carried out this operation.

COLUMBIA, S.C. – A former correctional officer was found guilty Thursday and sentenced to serve six years prison for introducing contraband into Trenton Correctional Institution.

Janean Lateefah Dunbar, 41, of Aiken, was found guilty of possession with intent to distribute marijuana, furnishing contraband to an inmate and misconduct in office.

Edgefield Circuit Judge William Keesley sentenced Dunbar to serve 10 years, suspended to six, plus five years probation.

Dunbar's charges stem from her arrest in June 2018, when she was paid by an inmate to bring drugs into the institution, court documents show.

The S.C. Department of Corrections pursues criminal charges against any person who is found to bring or attempt to bring contraband into an institution. This is one of the longest sentences imposed on a correctional officer in recent years

"I'd like to thank Solicitor Rick Hubbard and his team for prosecuting this very serious matter," S.C. Department of Corrections Director Bryan Stirling said. "Anytime someone brings contraband into an institution and breaks the public trust, there needs to be consequences."

Copies of the arrest warrants are attached.

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA

State Grand Jury Indicts Two Prison Guards for Alleged Involvement in Smuggling Contraband within South Carolina Prisons

(COLUMBIA, SC) South Carolina Attorney General Alan Wilson announced today that the South Carolina State Grand Jury has issued an additional indictment in the case known as "Cash Cow", involving allegations of sophisticated and highly lucrative conspiracies to smuggle large amounts of contraband into the South Carolina prisons.

The indictment alleges that Carmen Amelia Carpenter, a former SCDC Lieutenant at the Turbeville Correctional Institution, and Chesley Lavon McFadden, a former SCDC Sergeant at the Turbeville Correctional Institution, used their "position[s] as correctional officer[s] to facilitate the unlawful introduction and distribution of contraband into a prison facility". Both Carpenter and McFadden were charged with one count of Criminal Conspiracy, which is punishable by 5 years and up to a $5000 fine, and Common Law Misconduct in Office, which is punishable by up to 10 years and a fine in the discretion of the court.

The investigation is ongoing and anyone with information regarding contraband in SCDC should contact SLED or the Attorney General's Office.

The case was investigated by the South Carolina State Grand Jury, which was assisted in this case by a partnership of the Attorney General's State Grand Jury Division, the South Carolina Law Enforcement Division, the South Carolina Department of Corrections' Division of Police Services, the Richland County Sheriff's Department, the Fifth Circuit Solicitor's Office, the Laurens County Sheriff's Department, and the Eighth Circuit Solicitor's Office. The cases will be prosecuted by State Grand Jury Division Chief S. Creighton Waters, Assistant Attorney General David Fernandez, and 5th Circuit Assistant Solicitor John Conrad.

Attorney General Wilson stressed that all defendants are presumed innocent unless and until they are proven guilty in a court of law.

SCDC is monitoring Hurricane Dorian as part of the South Carolina emergency management team. The forecast at this point does not affect any of our institutions. If that changes @SCDCNews will notify the public. #SafetyFirst

Response to media inquiry SCDC emailed LOC

COLUMBIA, S.C. – Inmates and staff at Ridgeland Correctional Institution in Jasper County will shelter in place during Hurricane Dorian. The concrete and steel prison was built to updated hurricane standards after Hurricane Hugo, and it is safe and secure.

Ridgeland has weathered many hurricanes, including a direct hit from Hurricane Matthew in 2016, with no damage.

The institution has enough food, water, generator fuel and other supplies to last several weeks if needed. SCDC has an agreement with Jasper County to deliver more supplies if roads are flooded and routes blocked after the storm.

Inmates who might need extra medical care during the storm were evacuated to other institutions Monday.

SCDC believes this is the safest place for the inmates and staff, considering the strength of the buildings. Ridgeland CI has never been evacuated before.

Ridgeland is a medium-security prison that houses about 950 inmates. It was built in the early 1990s and opened in 1995. Ridgeland falls in the northern corner of Jasper County Zone A. No other SCDC institutions are in evacuation zones.

South Carolina Department of Corrections

Sept. 12, 2019

For immediate release

Contact: Chrysti Shain, (803) 413-8206

Shain.Chrysti@doc.sc.gov

COLUMBIA, S.C. – The S.C. Department of Corrections opens its reentry unit for maximum-security offenders today, completing the agency’s goal to offer significant retraining and job skills programs for all offenders returning to society.

The “Going Home for Good” program is based at Lieber Correctional Institution, where maximum-security offenders will spend their final two years of incarceration taking classes, developing work skills, practicing for job interviews and learning how to navigate a very different world than the one they left.

About 85 percent of offenders at SCDC spend less than five years in prison, making the need for retraining crucial. Director Bryan Stirling and Deputy Director for Programs, Reentry and Rehabilitative Services Nena Staley started building the department’s extensive reentry program in 2014.

“Director Stirling’s commitment to providing reentry services to those who are committed to positively impacting their communities has resulted in South Carolina having one of the lowest recidivism rates in the country,” Gov. Henry McMaster said. “When we help someone secure a job and train them to do that job, it dramatically increases their chances of becoming a contributing member of society, which is good for all of South Carolina.”

Lieber’s name will be changed to Lieber Correctional Institution and Reentry Center to reflect its new mission. This follows a pattern started in 2016, when the agency created Manning Reentry/Work Release Center. Minimum-security offenders go to Manning for their final months to earn work certificates and the necessary skills to succeed after release. Building on that success, similar programs are offered for medium-security male offenders at Kershaw and women at Camille Graham.

The program at Lieber is longer and more intensive because many of these offenders have been incarcerated for decades. In addition to work skills, they have to learn how to navigate parts of life today that didn't exist when they came to prison. The program also will teach them how to explain their incarceration, manage their time and disappointment and give them survival skills for drug addiction and anger management.

These programs, which are based on best practices from across the country, are key to South Carolina's historically low recidivism rates and are helping address the need for workers in an ever-growing economy.

"We are helping offenders find housing, employment and the community support needed to become productive citizens," Stirling said. "We want them to succeed. It's better for them, their family, public safety and taxpayers. It just makes sense."

To help prepare offenders for release, SCDC has partnerships with multiple state agencies including the S.C. Department of Employment and Workforce, the Department of Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse Services, many non-profits and private companies.

Some of the many skills and work certificates offenders can earn include plumbing, landscaping, carpentry, brick masonry, welding, driving forklifts and commercial vehicles and ServSafe food certification. They also can earn their GED and pursue other education goals.

"We are thankful for the partnerships that make this kind of programming successful," Stirling said. "We are knocking down the barriers that have existed to make reentry successful. This saves tax dollars, makes our state safer and gives people a second chance at a productive life."

COLUMBIA, S.C. – The S.C. Department of Corrections Police Services released the arrest warrants today for Orbadella Garrett, a food service employee at Livesay Correctional Institution and Pre-release Center.

Garrett, 58, of Spartanburg, is charged with providing contraband to an inmate and criminal conspiracy. She was fired after her arrest.

Her arrest appears to be connected to Sunday's escape of inmate Shane Adams, who was captured just before 3 a.m. Monday morning in Spartanburg. The case is still under investigation.

The S.C. Department of Corrections reminds members of the public that after an arrest, the burden of proof is on the state to prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt within a court of law.

Copies of the arrest warrants are attached.

Eight Former SCDC Employees Plead Guilty to Federal Crimes Associated with Accepting Bribes to Smuggle Contraband into SCDC Facilities

Columbia, South Carolina --- United States Attorney Sherri A. Lydon announced today that Jamal Early, Frank Pridgeon, Miguel Williams, Catherine Prosser, Holly Mitchem, Robert Hill, Ebonynisha Casby, and Sharon Johnson Breeland, all former employees of the South Carolina Department of Corrections (SCDC), have pleaded guilty in federal court to offenses associated with accepting bribes to smuggle contraband into SCDC facilities.

"Those who violate the public trust by taking bribes to smuggle dangerous contraband into our prisons endanger inmates, prison staff, and the general public," said U.S. Attorney Lydon. "The U.S. Attorney's Office and our partners at SCDC will not rest until we have rooted out the corruption in our prison system."

"When a correctional officer brings contraband into an institution, it breaks a public trust and makes the institution and our state unsafe for everyone," said Bryan Stirling, Director of the South Carolina Department of Corrections. "They deserve to spend time behind bars."

The specific guilty pleas are as follows:

- On September 19, 2019, Jamal Early pleaded guilty to Use of an Interstate Facility to Facilitate Bribery. Facts presented in court showed Early, a former correctional officer at Ridgeland Correctional Institution, accepted bribes to smuggle tobacco and A-PVP (a synthetic narcotic) into prison. He faces a maximum penalty of five years in federal prison.
- On September 18, 2019, Frank Pridgeon pleaded guilty to Honest Services Wire Fraud. Facts presented in court showed Pridgeon, a former correctional officer at Kershaw Correctional Institution, accepted bribes to smuggle cocaine, marijuana, tobacco, and cell phones into prison. Pridgeon faces a maximum penalty of 20 years in federal prison.
- On September 13, 2019, Miguel Williams pleaded guilty to Use of an Interstate Facility to Facilitate Bribery. Facts presented in court showed Williams, a former correctional officer at Perry Correctional Institution, accepted bribes to smuggle tobacco and liquor into prison. Williams faces a maximum penalty of five years in federal prison.
- On September 13, 2019, Catherine Prosser pleaded guilty to Possession with Intent to Distribute Marijuana. Facts presented in court showed Prosser, a former correctional officer at McCormick Correctional Institution, accepted bribes to smuggle marijuana into prison. Prosser faces a maximum penalty of five years in federal prison.
- On September 13, 2019, Holly Mitchem pleaded guilty to Use of an Interstate Facility to Facilitate Bribery. Facts presented in court showed Mitchem, a food service worker at Tyger River Correctional Institution, accepted bribes to smuggle tobacco and K2 into prison. Mitchem and faces a maximum penalty of five years in federal prison.
- On September 13, 2019, Robert Hill pleaded guilty to Use of an Interstate Facility to Facilitate Bribery. Facts presented in court showed Hill, a horticulture specialist at Tyger River Correctional Institution, accepted bribes to smuggle marijuana, K2, tobacco, and cell phones into prison. Hill faces a maximum penalty of five years in federal prison.
- On September 10, 2019, Ebonynisha Casby pleaded guilty to Use of an Interstate Facility to Facilitate Bribery. Facts presented in court showed that Casby, a correctional officer at Lieber Correctional Institution, accepted bribes to smuggle a watch and jewelry into prison. Casby faces a maximum penalty of five years in federal prison.

- On August 6, 2019, Sharon Johnson Breeland pleaded guilty to Possession with Intent to Distribute Methamphetamine. Facts presented in court showed that Breeland, a correctional officer at Broad River Correctional Institution, accepted bribes to smuggle methamphetamine into prison. Breeland faces a maximum penalty of twenty years in federal prison.

These guilty pleas are the result of a partnership with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), the United States Attorney's Office, and SCDC to investigate the smuggling of contraband into prisons by staff at SCDC. The investigation has uncovered a number of SCDC employees who accepted bribes to smuggle into prison various contraband such as cell phones, narcotics, or tobacco. Previous recent prosecutions by the United States Attorney's Office of SCDC employees for these types of offenses have resulted in prison time for the offenders.

Assistant United States Attorney William Camden Lewis of the Columbia office is prosecuting the cases.

COLUMBIA, S.C. – A test to jam cell phone signals conducted in a South Carolina prison earlier this year proves the technology works without interfering with cell phones on the outside.

The results of the test, published today by the National Telecommunications and Information Administration, say the new technology stopped cell phone signals inside an inmate housing dorm at Broad River Correctional Institution while allowing calls to be made one foot outside the unit.

“Director Bryan Stirling has led a nationwide effort in demonstrating the dangers of contraband cell phones in prisons and it has become clear that it is far past time to allow states to jam cell phone signals in prisons,” Gov. Henry McMaster said.

The Federal Communications Commission regulates the airwaves, and a decades-old law prohibits jamming the signals used by cell phones. The Cell Phone Jamming Reform Act, introduced in Congress earlier this year, would change that and allow prisons to jam the signals.

The test answers questions raised by some lawmakers and industry officials about whether the technology would affect areas near prisons.

“I saw first-hand that this technology works,” said Stirling, Director of the S.C. Department of Corrections. “I hope we can count on Congress to pass this legislation quickly so we can make our prisons safer for officers, inmates and society.”

Contraband cell phones have proven to be the most dangerous weapon in prisons today. Inmates have been prosecuted for using cell phones to order murders, incite violence, orchestrate escapes, demand money from innocent victims and run sophisticated criminal enterprises from inside prison walls. As recently as July, an SCDC inmate was charged with orchestrating a murder through calls and texts on a contraband cell phone. Others have stalked victims on social media and been charged with running sophisticated sextortion and blackmail scams.

“People are physically incarcerated, but contraband cell phones allow them to be virtually out among us committing crimes,” Stirling said. “We see this over and over again, with inmates ordering murders, extorting money from family and strangers and continuing their criminal ways from behind bars.”

Since 2015, SCDC has confiscated more than 25,000 cell phones and accessories from inside its institutions. This technology would eliminate any cell signal from leaving institutions, rendering the phones useless.

The test was conducted in April at Broad River Correctional Institution by the Federal Bureau of Prisons in conjunction with the U.S. Attorney’s Office and SCDC. This is the first time this technology has been tested at a state corrections facility. The Bureau of Prisons has tested the technology twice in federal institutions.

“I would like to thank Assistant Attorney General Beth Williams for her leadership on this issue,” Stirling said. “Now we need Congress to act so we so we can stop these illegal cell phones from working in our prisons.”

Please provide to the committee on a prolonged incarceration.

- Ruling by the General Counsel regarding awarding of jail time credit for a probation citation was disseminated in January of 2017 to the Division Director for Central Classification.
- Inmate in question was sentenced to 6 years for 2 counts of Manufacturing/Distribution of Crack Cocaine on May 15, 2017.
- Inmate was sentenced to four years for 2 counts of probation revocation for Possession Meth/Cocaine on December 15, 2017 to run concurrent with sentences of six years for Manufacturing.
- Inmate sentence began on February 9, 2016 with a maxout date of February 19, 2020. Inmate was being reviewed for Supervised Reentry on August 14, 2019 and was approved.
- While Inmate Records Office was doing the Release Audit for Supervised Reentry in September of 2019, for Supervised Reentry to begin in December of 2019, it was determined that a judgment error was made in the awarding of jailtime for a probation citation. When the jailtime was awarded correctly it changed the inmate's maxout date to July 9, 2019. Inmate was released on September 25, 2019.
- This was not caught by the Agency wide audit as it was reviewed by a case worker during the Agency audit. The case worker reviewed the commitment order and determined that the jail time entered in the automated system was in line with what was written on the commitment order. It is unclear as to whether this employee was aware of the General Counsel's ruling from January of 2017. This ruling will be disseminated statewide with a signature required for the receipt and understanding of this ruling and will be made part of new employee training.
- This situation was pre-implementation of the double-blind audit, which should have caught this judgement error. As sentences and jail time credit are entered by humans, you will never 100% eliminate data entry errors; however, the audits currently in place should identify these errors.
- The Agency is in the process of implementing a new classification system as well a nationwide search for a Classification Division Director, which should also assist with these issues.
- SCDC will communicate with SCPPP to request a list of all individuals with probation revocations that resulted in admission to SCDC. SCDC will audit these records to ensure proper jail time was awarded.
- In addition, the Agency is in the process of hiring an attorney whose primary responsibility will be to review any conviction entry issues in question and address these issues on site.

COLUMBIA, S.C. – The S.C. Department of Corrections Police Services released the arrest warrants today for two men charged with throwing contraband over a fence at Lieber Correctional Institution.

The men, Dominique Antwuan Montgomery, 29, of Charleston, and Terry Jamal Whittaker, 25, of Goose Creek, are both charged with trafficking in ecstasy 100 doses or more, furnishing a prisoner with contraband and criminal conspiracy.

A Dorchester County sheriff's lieutenant saw three men throwing packages over a fence at Lieber on Monday. After a brief chase, Montgomery and Whittaker were arrested. A third man remains at large.

Officers at Lieber recovered three packages, which contained 11 cell phones, 200 doses of ecstasy and 77 packages of tobacco wrappers.

The S.C. Department of Corrections thanks the Dorchester County Sheriff's Department for its strong partnership and support in patrolling the area around Lieber CI.

SCDC reminds members of the public that after an arrest, the burden of proof is on the state to prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt within a court of law.

Copies of the arrest warrants are attached.

Inmate Steven Ranslow Allison, SCDC #293718, died this morning in his cell at Perry CI of a suspected suicide by hanging. SLED and SCDC Police Services are investigating, and an autopsy will be performed.

October 18, 2019

Information SCDC emailed LOC

- April 11, 2012: Inmate was admitted to SCDC to serve a 15 year sentence, suspended to 3 years in SCDC, and 3 years of probation for Manufacturing/Distribution of Crack Cocaine 2nd Offense, Indictment 2011-GS-23-02870.
- August 1, 2014: Inmate was released from SCDC to probation.
- December 5, 2016: General Counsel's Office prepared a memorandum, titled: Hayes v. State and Probation Revocation Sentences. Training was done on this memorandum with the Inmate Records staff same date. This memorandum documented how probation revocations were to be entered pursuant to the Hayes ruling.
- December 6, 2016: General Counsel's Office prepared another memorandum titled: Hayes v. State and Probation Revocation Sentences – Follow Up. Training was also conducted on this follow-up memorandum.
- On October 9, 2017, Inmate was admitted to SCDC on a Probation Revocation sentence of the indictment noted above. The order was signed on October 6, 2017. The judge ordered Inmate to serve 5 years of the remaining sentence, then terminate any remaining probation left to serve. This portion of the sentence was entered correctly as five years for the "incarcerative" sentence, and Inmate's release date was accurately computed.
- Of the original 15 years imposed on 04/11/2012, minus the 3 years served in SCDC on this sentence, left a remaining balance of 12 years left to satisfy the original sentence.
- When interpreting the December 5&6, 2016 memorandums from the General Counsel's Office, the data entry person determined that the remaining balance of 12 years was required to be documented in the automated system. This entry of 12 years only affected the initial parole eligibility date, and did not affect the inmate's release date calculation. There was an inconsistent interpretation of the December 6, 2016 memorandum by the Inmate Records Office staff. This remaining balance of 12 years should not have been entered in the automated system as the "total" sentence; instead, five years should have been entered as the "total" sentence.
- In June 2019, an Inmate Records Office supervisor requested clarity on this issue from the General Counsel's Office due to the inconsistency of interpretation between the employees. On June 27, 2019, Deputy General Counsel sent a clarification email.
- On October 1, 2019, pursuant to a phone call from Inmate's wife discussing his early release eligibility, the Commitment Entry person, Inmate Records Office, reviewed Inmate's record, found and corrected the errant entry of the 12 years remaining to serve.
- Per the SCDPPPS, Inmate's anticipated parole hearing date is January 22, 2020.
- As a result of this issue, a training was conducted with all Inmate Records Office Commitment entry personnel on Tuesday 10/15/2019, to clarify any confusion on this issue. Deputy General Counsel was in attendance at this training.
- With the help of the SCDPPPS, SCDC is auditing the records of approximately 2,613 inmates currently incarcerated and serving probation revocation sentences. 1,558 received a straight probation sentence, which was eventually revoked and sentenced to SCDC time. 1,055 received SCDC time and probation, was released to probation, which was eventually revoked and the inmate returned to SCDC to serve their revocation.
- Effective October 15, 2019, Whenever a probation revocation sentence is entered into the automated system, the system will now challenge the Commitment entry personnel to confirm that all jail time regarding this revocation sentence is accounted for and awarded to the inmate.

- 07/17/2019: Jail time information received by the Records Analyst. Although received, the Records Analyst did not enter the information in the automated system.
- 10/16/2019: As a result of an audit of inmates serving probation revocation sentences, Inmate's record was reviewed and it was determined that the jail time he served was not entered. Upon entry of the jail time, Inmate's release date from 11/23/2019 to 10/02/2019. Inmate was released same date.
- 10/17/2019: The inmate Records Office supervisors were instructed to meet with each Commitment Entry person to ensure they understand how jail time is entered in the automated system for parole violators.

Synopsis of Prolonged Release

- 01/29/2010: Arrested on two counts of Criminal Sexual Conduct with A Minor 2nd Degree.
- 08/11/2011: Sentenced to 20 years suspended to 5 years' probation.
- From arrest date of 01/29/2010, to sentence date of 08/11/2011 = 559 days of jail time.
- 05/24/2013: Inmate was sentenced on a partial probation revocation of 6 months, then placed on community supervision.
- 05/29/2013: Inmate was admitted to SCDC. Inmate was awarded 37 days pre-revocation jail time.
- 08/13/2013: Inmate released to Community Supervision.
- 05/13/2016: Inmate was sentenced to a full probation revocation of 7 years.
- 05/17/2016: Inmate was admitted to SCDC to serve his 7-year sentence. Inmate was awarded 52 days pre-revocation jail time. Admission date SCDC pre-dates the New Hayes ruling.
- 12/05 -06/2016: New Hayes v. State ruling was shared with the Inmate Records Office staff. This ruling directs that probation violators are to received jail credit from their initial sentencing towards their current revocation time. Although audits were done to determine if inmates were eligible to receive additional jail credits because of this ruling, Inmate's automated record did not reflect an audit.
- SCDC is currently reviewing this matter to determine why he was not on initial Hayes list for audit review.
- 10/18/2019: During the Probation Revocation Audit, which started on October 3, 2019, it was determined that Inmate had not received his jail time as directed by the Hayes ruling. This was determined through additional research due to the notation on his Continuation Order (Form 9). The formal request for jail time was submitted and upon receipt, it was determined that he served 559 days in jail prior to his initial sentencing. Inmate could not be released on 10/18/2019 because 1) he is homeless, 2) a sex offender, 3) required GPS monitoring, 4) has mental health concerns.
- 10/21/2019: The application of the 559 days of jail time changed his projected maxout date from 01/04/2020 to 8/9/2018.
- 10/21/2019: Inmate was released to SCDPPPS' Agents for GPS monitoring.

Prolonged Incarceration

- 08/23/2019: Sentenced to two (2) probation violations for Receiving Stolen Goods and Unauthorized Use of Vehicle.
- 08/29/2019: Admitted to SCDC.

- 10/4/2019: The continuance order was received from PPP and showed that the inmate was placed back on probation. The warrant and any jail time information had not been received.
- 10/21/2019: Pickens Detention Center was contacted by phone and forwarded the jail time for that time period. Warrant was issued 04/12/2018 and Inmate was jailed from 06/07/2018 thru 08/31/2018 which equaled 85 days of Hayes credit to be awarded.
- 10/22/2019: Inmate's original release date of 11/23/2019 has now changed to 09/28/2019 as a result of being awarded the additional jail credit.

COLUMBIA, S.C. – The S.C. Department of Corrections Police Services released the arrest warrants today for Jack Michael Kibler, a visitor to Goodman Correctional Institution Saturday.

Kibler, 60, of West Columbia, is charged with possession of marijuana, possession of methamphetamine, introducing contraband into a prison and criminal conspiracy.

Kibler is charged with hiding 12 grams of loose tobacco wrapped in black electrical tape in his medical boot and bringing it into the Columbia prison. The contraband was found during a shakedown at the institution, and officers found evidence of conspiracy with an inmate through telephone calls. Afterwards, Kibler consented to a search of his vehicle, and a canine officer found marijuana and methamphetamines.

The S.C. Department of Corrections reminds members of the public that after an arrest, the burden of proof is on the state to prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt within a court of law.

Copies of the arrest warrants are attached.
