Natural Resources, Department of

As a former DNR employee I'm very concerned with the many issues in the Administration/Management or lack there of. Divisions are having mass exodus of experienced and reliable employees. Various division employees are overworked and definitely underpaid for the hours put in and other employees cut and run as soon as 5:00 pm hits. Then you have upper staff who have no regard for the people they supervise and treat them like they are no more than workhorses to be whipped into shape. This was an agency that many people looked forward to going to work for but not so much any more. Many I know who have left the agency don't even want to recommend DNR as an agency to seek a job with because of the lack of management. There are so many issues that I can't begin to name all of them. It is sad that a once respected and admired state agency has basically gone to hell in a hand basket.
