How would your use of social media or other similar types of Internet sites be affected if you were serving in a judicial capacity?

The use of social media and other internet platforms is becoming increasingly beneficial as a connectivity source in receiving news, entertainment, and communication with family, associates, and friends. Judges, while not prohibited from using these platforms must carefully scrutinize each such contact and ensure that they are not improperly used as a source of ex-parte contact, bias, or the appearance of bias. I cautiously use social media responsibly to receive the benefits while ensuring that no impression is given that these social contacts are in a special position to influence the court. If this issue is raised, recusal may be necessary. My primary use of social media is for news, religious services, and entertainment and as a means of keeping abreast of family matters of interest involving friends.
