11. Please answer the following:

- (a) If you are a candidate for Family Court, please provide a brief written description of your experience within each of the following Family Court practice areas: divorce and equitable division of property, child custody, adoption, abuse and neglect, and juvenile justice. Include information about cases you have handled in each of these practice areas, or if you have not practiced in an area, describe how your background and procedural knowledge has prepared you to preside over such matters as a Family Court Judge. Please also indicate the frequency of your appearances before a Family Court Judge within the past five years.
- (b) If you are a candidate for Circuit Court, please provide a brief written description of your experience in criminal matters, including any cases handled over the past five years and include a brief description of the issues involved. Further, please provide a brief written description of your experience in civil matters, including any cases handled over the past five years and include a brief description of the types of matters handled, issues involved, and procedural history. Please include information such as the primary areas in civil court in which you practice, whether you represent plaintiffs or defendants, or both. You may go back further than five years if you feel it would assist the Commission with its assessment of your experience. If you lack experience in an area, describe how your background and procedural knowledge has prepared you to preside over such matters as a Circuit Court Judge, or how you would compensate for your lack of experience in this area. Please also indicate the frequency of your appearances before a Circuit Court Judge within the past five years.
 From August 2009 until March 2010, my experience involved matters in both General Sessions and Common Pleas. I assisted a Circuit Court Judge in trials involving the death penalty in General Sessions and dram shop liability involving a death in Common Pleas.

From March 2010 until December 2011, my practice was exclusively in General Sessions court as an Assistant Solicitor. I appeared in court approximately every other week on matters involving bond hearings, pleas, and trials. I tried several cases to verdict and prosecuted hundreds of guilty pleas. My trial work involved the prosecution of an armed robbery defendant over a three-day trial, another armed robbery defendant over a three-day trial, and an arson defendant over a three-day trial. My total caseload involved a variety of issues including charges of murder, attempted murder, armed robbery, assault and battery, arson, driving under the influence, and property crimes. I exclusively represented the State as the prosecuting authority in the Court of General Sessions during this time.

From January 2012 until December 2014, my practice was approximately half civil and half criminal. I represented clients in personal injury, criminal defense, real estate transactions, construction defects, and probate matters. Additionally, I was the sole public defender for all magistrate level defendants (approximately 20 per month) for about two years. I represented clients in Common Pleas, General Sessions, Magistrate Court, Family Court, and Probate Court. I tried approximately five criminal cases to verdict during my tenure in private practice. My civil practice clients were usually plaintiffs, while my criminal practice clients were exclusively defendants.

From January 2015 until the present, my practice has been in governmental law. This area of law requires me to occasionally appear in the Court of Common Pleas, the Administrative Law Court, and Magistrate's Court. I represent Berkeley County in drug forfeitures, contract negotiations, employment matters, real estate negotiations, tax and fee appeals, economic development incentive agreements, zoning appeals, and by providing advice and counsel to county council. My client is usually the defendant in these actions. I represented the County, along with co-counsel, in a class-action (Worley Investments, LLC et. al. v. Berkeley County, South Carolina, case number 2015-CP-08-1153) involving an allegation the County failed to timely expend fees collected as part of an impact fee program. This case ultimately settled after more than a year of litigation and several motion hearings, including a Motion for Temporary Injunction (to prevent the County from expending any of the fees collected) and a Motion for Class Certification. I also represented the County in all negotiations involving the recruitment and incentive agreements with Volvo Cars. These negotiations involved issues of contract, real estate, and fee in lieu of tax authority. I am currently involved in litigation in the Administrative Law Court involving an appeal of the tax assessment levied by Berkeley County against a 200+ unit apartment building. This matter is set for trial in September of 2018. Additionally, I am currently representing the County, along with co-counsel, in two cases in the Court of Common Pleas involving appeals from the Board of Zoning Appeals and a third case involving an appeal of a denial to modify the zoning of a parcel by County Council. These cases have not been set for trial.

- (c) If you are a candidate for Master-In-Equity, please provide a brief written description of your experience in the Master's court, including any cases handled over the past five years and include a brief description of the issues involved. Please include the frequency of your appearances before a Master-In-Equity or a Circuit Court Judge within the past five years.

- (d) If you are a candidate for Administrative Law Court, please provide a brief written description of your experience before an Administrative Law Judge, including any issues discussed and the frequency of your appearances before the Administrative Law or Circuit Court within the past five years.
12. What was the frequency of your court appearances during the past five years or in the five years prior to your election to the bench?
- (a) federal: None
  - (b) state: (2015-present) about four times per year (2012-2014) about every other week
13. What percentage of your practice involved civil, criminal, domestic, and other matters during the past five years or in the five years prior to your election to the bench?
- (a) civil: (2015-present) 100% (2012-2014) 20%
  - (b) criminal: (2010-2011) 100% (2012-2014) 45%
  - (c) domestic: (2012-2014) 35%
  - (d) other: (2012-2014) 10% in probate
14. What percentage of your practice in trial court during the past five years or in the five years prior to your election to the bench involved matters that went to a jury, including those that settled prior to trial?
- (a) jury: 50%
  - (b) non-jury: 50%

Did you most often serve as sole counsel, chief counsel, or associate counsel in these matters? I served approximately an equal percentage of cases as sole counsel and associate counsel. I have had limited experience as chief counsel.

15. List five of the most significant litigated matters you have personally handled in either trial or appellate court or before a state or federal agency. Give citations if the cases were reported and describe why these matters were significant.
- (a) The trial of State v. Lovario Hampton in September 2010 was my first trial as a lawyer. The defendant was charged with armed robbery and the victim wanted to prosecute. This case was set for trial several months after I joined the Solicitor's office, so I had to work diligently to get ready for trial. This case taught me a lot about preparing a case for trial.
  - (b) The trial of State v. Elijah White in April 2011 involved another defendant charged with armed robbery, but involved an eye-witness that was extremely reluctant to testify. With the help of the office investigator, I was able to convince this witness that we needed her to testify. This case taught me about working with difficult witnesses.
  - (c) The trial of State v. Henry Wade in September 2011 involved a defendant charged with arson and allegations of racial motivation. The defendant was represented by a good trial attorney, which forced me to perform at my highest level. This case was my first exposure to trying a case with a racially charged fact pattern in front of a diverse jury.

(d) Bryant v. Bryant in 2013 was a Family Court trial with two very emotional parties. Negotiating witnesses, facts, and evidence in Family Court taught me about how people think and act during stressful events. Further, it taught me how to manage client expectations from the inception.

(e) As part of my public defender contract, I tried a case in 2013 in Magistrate's Court involving a convicted sex offender who had been charged with failing to register as a sex offender with the local sheriff's office. This was a very difficult case considering the allegations and the defendant's history; however, the evidence indicated that the defendant was innocent. This case reaffirmed to me what a lawyer is supposed to do – be a zealous advocate for their client. The defendant had little family and no friends, he had a terrible past, and the outlook for his future was bleak. Regardless of all the things that this defendant had done, he had not done what he was charged with. This case reminded me of two particular sections of the Lawyer's Oath, "to my clients, I pledge faithfulness, competence, diligence, good judgment and prompt communication" and "I will assist the defenseless or oppressed by ensuring that justice is available to all citizens and will not delay any person's cause for profit or malice; So help me God."

I grew in a small town where both my parents worked, my mother was a teacher and my father held various jobs at a power company. I have had a job since I was old enough to work. From being a groundskeeper at the local golf course to packing lunches for a food service program, I always worked and was always expected to work. After receiving an engineering degree from Clemson, I felt called to something different. In law school, the Mock Trial program is what I enjoyed most. Being in the courtroom helping people is where I felt I belonged. The last three and a half years as Berkeley County Attorney have only solidified that belief. While providing me a wide breadth of experience in areas of the law I would not otherwise have been exposed to, the minimal opportunities to litigate have been somewhat stifling. The prospect of being able to ensure that justice and fairness are administered in our judicial system, and possibly contributing to the improvement of our judicial system, is too exciting to pass up.
