

Session 108 - (1989-1990)

S 1127 Joint Resolution, By Wilson, M.T. Rose and Thomas

A Joint Resolution to ratify a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States to delay the effective date of any law varying the compensation of members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives until after an intervening election of members of the House of Representatives if a court of competent jurisdiction determines that the prior ratification of the General Assembly of this amendment on January 19, 1790, is invalid for purposes of promulgating the amendment.

|          |        |   |
|----------|--------|---|
| 01/23/90 | Senate | Introduced and read first time SJ-11        |
| 01/23/90 | Senate | Referred to Committee on Judiciary SJ-11    |
| 03/21/90 | Senate | Committee report: Favorable Judiciary SJ-10 |
| 03/27/90 | Senate | Read second time SJ-37                      |
| 03/28/90 | Senate | Read third time and sent to House SJ-211    |
| 03/29/90 | House  | Introduced and read first time HJ-6         |
| 03/29/90 | House  | Referred to Committee on Judiciary HJ-6     |
| 05/01/90 | House  | Tabled in committee                         |