Executive Summary

In 2014, Governor Nikki Haley signed Act 284, the Read to Succeed (R2S) Act, into law. The South Carolina legislature designed Read to Succeed with the intention of increasing the number of students statewide who can proficiently read and comprehend grade-level text, particularly in the early grades.

A core component of the Read to Succeed Act is the inclusion of school-based reading/literacy coaches. Reading coaches support teachers by providing ongoing professional development on best instructional practices in order to improve student achievement in literacy, and also work in classrooms alongside teachers to support all students. Coaches receive regular virtual and face-to-face professional development from regionally-assigned Literacy Specialists, who model evidence-based strategies and practices that coaches can implement in their schools. Literacy Specialists also work with coaches and teachers in classrooms to analyze data and problem-solve, and help coaches facilitate professional learning labs for educators.

This year, 614 state-funded reading coaches were placed in districts and charter schools across the state. Coaches' core responsibilities are teacher-focused: each week, they assist teachers with developing high-quality lesson plans, making adjustments to instruction, and analyzing student data.

The following report includes statewide coach qualification data, funding allocations for 2018–19, information on reading coach responsibilities, and school-level placements by district.

Reporting Requirement

According to SC Code 59-155-180, the reading coach shall:

- (a) model effective instructional strategies for teachers by working weekly with students in whole, and small groups, or individually;
- (b) facilitate study groups;
- (c) train teachers in data analysis and using data to differentiate instruction;
- (d) coaching and mentoring colleagues;
- (e) work with teachers to ensure that research-based reading programs are implemented with fidelity;
- (f) work with all teachers (including content area and elective areas) at the school they serve, and help prioritize time for those teachers, activities, and roles that will have the greatest impact on student achievement, namely coaching and mentoring in the classrooms; and
- (g) help lead and support reading leadership teams.

Funding and further guidance for the state's reading coach program is provided in Provisos 1.62 and 1A.57 of the 2018–19 Appropriations Act (see Appendix B). Under the provisos, districts with schools receiving state funding for reading/literacy coaches are required to report to the South Carolina Department of Education (SCDE) the name and qualifications of the funded reading/literacy coaches, the schools in which coaches are assigned, and specific amounts and uses of proviso funds.

Using data reported by the school districts, the SCDE is required to report to the General Assembly by January 15th of the current fiscal year on the hiring of and assignment of reading/literacy coaches. The SCDE must also report the amount of unspent or unallocated funds that will be used for Summer Reading Camps.

Reading Coach Research

Reading coaches directly benefit the most important factor in a classroom: the teacher. Research suggests that school-based reading coaches impact students by improving the level of literacy instruction given by teachers (Bright and Hensley, 2010). The National Academy of Education (2008) provides evidence that professional development, coaching, and mentoring can improve instruction and promote the retention of highly effective teachers.

Additionally, the Annenberg Foundation for Education Reform (2004) released a comprehensive study detailing the core benefits of coaching. These findings suggest that coaching:

- Promotes positive cultural change within a school;
- Increases teachers' use of data to inform practice;
- Promotes the implementation of learning; and
- Supports collective leadership across a school system.

South Carolina-specific research emphasizes the positive impact of coaches on instruction and teacher beliefs. A study following the introduction of school-based reading coaches in districts found that teachers' beliefs and classroom practices became more consistently aligned with the best practices set forth by the SCDE after working with coaches (Stephens et al., 2011). A recent survey of South Carolina teachers found that 88 percent of teachers agree that their school’s reading coach provides support that helps improve their reading instruction (RMC Research Corporation, 2017).

2018–19 Coach Qualifications and Assignments

Coach Qualification Requirements

On October 1, 2018, school districts received the Reading/Literacy Coach Memorandum of Agreement, which outlines the necessary qualifications and requirements for school-based reading coaches (Appendix C). Per the memorandum, any licensed/certified teacher is qualified to serve as a coach if he or she:

- (1) holds a bachelor's degree or higher and the R2S Literacy Coach or R2S Literacy Specialist endorsement; or
- (2) holds a bachelor’s degree or higher and is actively pursuing the R2S Literacy Coach or R2S Literacy Specialist endorsement; or
- (3) holds a master’s degree or higher in reading or a closely related field and is actively pursuing the R2S Literacy Coach or R2S Literacy Specialist endorsement.

Additional qualifications for reading coaches include:

- Has knowledge of and the ability to apply adult learning theory within professional learning experiences;
- Works effectively with adults and motivates them to change practices;
- Has experience as a successful classroom teacher;
- Has experience in increasing student achievement in reading;
- Has knowledge of evidence-based reading research, quality reading instruction, and a depth of content knowledge;
- Has an ability to integrate reading strategies into other content areas;
- Is experienced in data analysis to inform instruction; and
- Has excellent communication, presentation, interpersonal, and time management skills.

Statewide Qualification Data

There are 614 state-funded reading coaches statewide for the 2018–19 school year as of December 2018. An additional 111 positions are currently vacant or in the process of being filled by districts. Qualifications and assignment data for the current year were provided by coaches and district staff in the Specific Parties Agreement as required by the Memorandum of Agreement and through a survey of reading coaches conducted by the Office of Early Learning and Literacy (OELL).

Education Level

Research suggests that high-quality reading coaches often have significant classroom teaching experience and possess graduate degrees and training in literacy (Bright and Hensley, 2010). Over 92 percent of state-funded reading coaches in 2018–19 have an advanced degree at the master’s level or beyond. Additionally, there was an 11.1 percent increase from 2016–17 to 2018–19 in the percentage of teachers with a master’s + 30 additional coursework hours.

Teaching and Coaching Experience

The percentage of coaches with classroom teaching experience has also risen, as nearly 88 percent of 2018–19 coaches have 11 or more years of teaching experience compared to 75 percent in 2016–17. The percentage of reading coaches with five or fewer years of experience continues to decline, suggesting that districts are hiring more highly qualified coaches.

Over three-quarters (77 percent) of 2018–19 reading coaches also served as a state-funded coach in South Carolina during the prior school year, and over 46 percent have four or more years of coaching experience. This year, the percentage of first-year coaches grew by 7.1 percent from 2017–18. This increase is likely due to changes in the 2018–19 Reading Coach proviso that allows districts to place coaches at primary and middle schools who previously did not have a state-funded coach.

School Level Assignment

Provisos 1.62 and 1A.57 for the 2018–19 fiscal year gave districts greater flexibility in reading coach school-level assignment. Previously, state-funded coaches could only serve in elementary schools. For the 2018–19 school year, districts were given the option to place coaches in primary, elementary, or middle schools or a combination of these schools depending on the area of highest need for the district. This year, over a quarter of districts (27 percent) chose to use this flexibility and placed coaches at primary, middle, or multiple schools.

The Role of the Reading Coach

South Carolina reading coaches offer job-embedded professional development to teachers that are centered on students’ needs. Coaches are the connecting link between statewide literacy best practices and classroom-level implementation. According to the Research Making Change (RMC) analysis of Read to Succeed, “[b]ecause of the intense professional development and coaching provided to teachers, students who are struggling are identified early and provided timely, intensive interventions to prevent future failure” (RMC Research Corporation, 2017).

Note: Figure adapted from Tennessee Department of Education’s Read to Be Ready Coaching Network Update (2018).

On this year’s annual SCDE survey, coaches were asked to respond to the question “What are the most valuable or beneficial actions you take in your role as a reading coach?” Overwhelmingly, coaches responded that supporting and collaborating with teachers is both their most beneficial action and the activity they spend most of their daily and weekly time completing. Many of these coaching conversations focus on analyzing student data, delivering high-quality instruction and differentiation, and planning high-quality lessons.

“In my opinion, the most valuable action I take is being responsive to student and teacher needs as a result of reviewing data, conversations with teachers, and interactions with other support school members. This would include being an active listener and coaching teachers through purposeful questioning.”

“The most valuable actions I take as a coach include working with teachers to analyze data to inform instruction while providing professional development opportunities that are essential to the needs of individual teachers.”

According to many coaches, their greatest impact on student achievement comes through building teacher literacy knowledge and capacity and offering continuous, cyclical support to educators year-round.

“My role allows me to grow readers through growing teachers. I not only aid teachers in modeling lessons and coaching cycles, but I work to increase their knowledge of all things literacy. By growing their professional knowledge, they are better able to diagnosis readers and determine the steps needed for continued growth.”

Additionally, coaches emphasized how their role requires them to build trust with teachers in order to have the greatest impact on instruction.

“Building relationships with the teachers in my building are key. Once relationships have been established, I work with teachers to improve literacy instruction in the classroom. Holding one-on-one sessions or grade level sessions are extremely beneficial in my coaching.”

Overall, coaches responded that concentrating on student needs and ensuring that all actions are student-focused is essential to improving literacy achievement.

Funding Allocation and Spending

For the second year, the state received more requests for reading coach funding than could be accommodated at the maximum reimbursement rates. Per Provisos 1.62 and 1A.57, schools could receive up to $62,730 for each eligible full time employee (FTE) position. Due to the expansion of eligible schools and change in proviso requirements, the state provided $53,906 for each full time position. Districts with vacant positions are still eligible to receive funding if they complete the hiring process.

In prior years, the provisos provided funding tiers based each elementary school's percentage of students scoring below "meets expectations" on the English Language Arts (ELA) portion of SCReady. Schools in which 20 percent or more of students scored below "meets expectations" were eligible for up to $62,730, while schools with less than 20 percent of students scoring below "meets expectations" were eligible for up to $31,365. This year, test scores were no longer used to determine funding allocations; instead, districts received funding for one FTE per elementary school, and could choose to place coaches in primary, middle, or a mix of schools based on determined need. Due to the full use of reading coach funds, there are currently no unallocated funds to go toward Summer Reading Camps.

Conclusion and Next Steps

South Carolina reading coaches are an integral component of the state's efforts to promote literacy achievement. The 2018–19 cohort is comprised of experienced, highly-qualified educators who assist teachers using evidence-based practices.

The OELL will continue to support reading coaches through the SC Coaching Institute and Professional Learning Communities (PLCs), as well as through regional Professional Learning Opportunities (PLOs) that target the specific needs of coaches across the state. The OELL will also continue linking the services and supports provided to coaches to the annual school and district reading plans. Finally, planning is underway to create a state coaching model in collaboration with other academic offices at the SCDE.

Appendix A: Excerpt from Act 284, the Read to Succeed Act

Section 59-155-180 (C)(1)-(3) states:

(C)(1) To ensure that practicing professionals possess the knowledge and skills necessary to assist all children and adolescents in becoming proficient readers, multiple pathways are needed for developing this capacity.

(2) A reading/literacy coach shall be employed in each elementary school. Reading coaches shall serve as job-embedded, stable resources for professional development throughout schools in order to generate improvement in reading and literacy instruction and student achievement. Reading coaches shall support and provide initial and ongoing professional development to teachers based on an analysis of student assessment and the provision of differentiated instruction and intensive intervention. The reading coach shall:

- (a) model effective instructional strategies for teachers by working weekly with students in whole, and small groups, or individually;
- (b) facilitate study groups;
- (c) train teachers in data analysis and using data to differentiate instruction;
- (d) coaching and mentoring colleagues;
- (e) work with teachers to ensure that research-based reading programs are implemented with fidelity;
- (f) work with all teachers (including content area and elective areas) at the school they serve, and help prioritize time for those teachers, activities, and roles that will have the greatest impact on student achievement, namely coaching and mentoring in the classrooms; and
- (g) help lead and support reading leadership teams.

(3) The reading coach must not be assigned a regular classroom teaching assignment, must not perform administrative functions that deter from the flow of improving reading instruction and reading performance of students and must not devote a significant portion of his or her time to administering or coordinating assessments. By August 1, 2014, the department must publish guidelines that define the minimum qualifications for a reading coach. Beginning in Fiscal Year 2014-2015, reading/literacy coaches are required to earn the add-on certification within six years, except as exempted in items (4) and (5), by completing the necessary courses or professional development as required by the department for the add-on. During the six-year period, to increase the number of qualified reading coaches, the Read to Succeed Office shall identify and secure courses and professional development opportunities to assist educators in becoming reading coaches and in earning the literacy add-on endorsement. In addition, the Read to Succeed Office will establish a process through which a district may be permitted to use state appropriations for reading coaches to obtain in-school services from department-approved consultants or vendors, in the event that the school is not successful in identifying and directly employing a qualified candidate. Districts must provide to the Read to Succeed Office information on the name and qualifications of reading coaches funded by the state appropriations.

Appendix B: Proviso 1.62 and (SDE: Reading/Literacy Coaches) and Proviso 1A.57 (SDE-EIA: Reading/Literacy Coaches), 2018–19 Appropriations Act

(A) Funds appropriated for Reading/Literacy Coaches must be allocated to school districts by the Department of Education as follows: for each primary and elementary school, the school district shall be eligible to receive up to $62,730 or the actual cost of salary and benefits for a full-time reading/literacy coach.

(B) By accepting these funds, a school district warrants that they will not be used to supplant existing school district expenditures, except for districts that either are currently, or in the prior fiscal year, were paying for reading/literacy coaches with local funds. A district may only utilize these funds to employ reading/literacy coaches that may serve in a primary, elementary, or middle school or a combination of these schools depending on the area of highest need in the district. The school district must align the placement of coaches to the district reading plan that is approved by the department.

(C) Funds appropriated for reading/literacy Coaches are intended to be used to provide primary, elementary, and/or middle schools with reading/literacy coaches who shall serve according to the provisions in Chapter 155 of Title 59.

(D) Schools and districts accepting funding to support a coaching position agree that the reading/literacy coach must not serve as an administrator. If the department finds that school districts are using these funds for administrative costs as defined in statute they must withhold that districts remaining balance of funds allocated pursuant to this proviso.

(E) The Department of Education must publish guidelines that define the minimum qualifications for a reading/literacy coach. These guidelines must deem any licensed/certified teacher qualified if, at a minimum, he or she:

- (1) holds a bachelor's degree or higher and an add-on endorsement for literacy coach or literacy specialist; or
- (2) holds a bachelor's degree or higher and is actively pursuing the literacy coach or literacy specialist endorsement; or
- (3) holds a master's degree or higher in reading or a closely-related field.

Within these guidelines, the Department of Education must assist districts in identifying a reading/literacy coach in the event that the school is not successful in identifying and directly employing a qualified candidate. The provisions of subsection (A), including the local support requirements, shall also apply to any allocations made pursuant to this paragraph.

(F) The Department of Education must develop procedures for monitoring the use of funds appropriated for reading/literacy coaches to ensure they are applied to their intended uses and are not redirected for other purposes. The Department of Education may receive up to $100,000 of the funds appropriated for reading/literacy coaches in order to implement this program, provided that this allocation does not exceed the department's actual costs.

(G) Prior to the close of the current fiscal year, any unspent or unallocated funds for reading/literacy coaches shall be used to fund Summer Reading Camps.

(H) The Department of Education shall require:

- (1) any school district receiving funding under subsection (A) to identify the name and qualifications of the supported reading/literacy coach; as well as the school in which the coach is assigned; and

(2) any school district receiving funding under subsection (G) to account for the specific amounts and uses of such funds.

(I) With the data reported by the school districts, the department shall report by January fifteenth of the current fiscal year on the hiring of and assignment of reading/literacy coaches by school. The department shall also report the amount of funds that will be used for Summer Reading Camps.

(J) Funds appropriated for reading/literacy coaches shall be retained and carried forward to be used for the same purpose but may not be flexed.

Appendix C: 2018–19 Memorandum of Agreement

The SCDE distributed the following document to school districts in October 2018. Each superintendent’s signature was required in order for a district to receive reading coach funding.

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT FOR SCHOOL-BASED LITERACY COACHES

I. BACKGROUND

The South Carolina Department of Education (SCDE) provides training for Read to Succeed (R2S) state-funded, school-based reading/literacy coaches employed by the district to serve primary and elementary schools and monitors the district’s utilization of literacy coaches to ensure state funding is applied in a manner consistent with the requirements set forth in the Read to Succeed Act and the 2018-2019 Appropriations Act.

The district agrees to employ an appropriately qualified and endorsed school-based reading/literacy coach who works directly with teachers to bring about improvements in the classrooms that impact student achievement in literacy. The work of the literacy coach is shaped by evidence-based research, content knowledge, and knowledge of appropriate reading strategies to enhance learning.

II. DISTRICT REQUIREMENTS FOR FUNDING AND USE OF FUNDS

For each primary and elementary school, the school district shall be eligible to receive up to $62,730 or the actual cost of salary and benefits for a full-time school-based reading/literacy coach (Proviso 1.62 for FY 2018–19). School districts may use existing local funds currently used for reading assistance as the local support.

A district may only utilize these funds to employ school-based reading/literacy coaches that may serve in a primary, elementary, or middle school or a combination of these schools depending on the area of highest need in the district. The school district must align the placement of coaches to the district reading plan that is approved by the SCDE. In order to receive and/or maintain funding in accordance with this program, the district agrees to and assures the SCDE of the following:

Pursuant to S.C. Code § 59-155-180(C),

- (1) “To ensure that practicing professionals possess the knowledge and skills necessary to assist all children and adolescents in becoming proficient readers, multiple pathways are needed for developing this capacity.”
- (2) “A reading/literacy coach shall be employed in each elementary school [or primary or middle school as amended by Proviso 1.62 for FY 2018–19]. Reading coaches shall serve as job-embedded, stable resources for professional development throughout schools in order to generate improvement in reading and literacy instruction and student achievement. Reading coaches shall support and provide initial and ongoing professional development to teachers based on an analysis of student assessment and the provision of differentiated instruction and intensive intervention. The reading coach shall:

- (a) model effective instructional strategies for teachers by working weekly with students in whole, and small groups, or individually;
 - (b) facilitate study groups;
 - (c) train teachers in data analysis and using data to differentiate instruction;
 - (d) coaching and mentoring colleagues;
 - (e) work with teachers to ensure that research-based reading programs are implemented with fidelity;
 - (f) work with all teachers (including content area and elective areas) at the school they serve, and help prioritize time for those teachers, activities, and roles that will have the greatest impact on student achievement, namely coaching and mentoring in the classrooms; and
 - (g) help lead and support reading leadership teams.
- (3) “The reading coach must not be assigned a regular classroom teaching assignment, must not perform administrative functions that deter from the flow of improving reading instruction and reading performance of students and must not devote a significant portion of his or her time to administering or coordinating assessments.” Schools and districts accepting funding to support a coaching position agree that the literacy coach must not serve as a full- or part-time administrator.

Additionally,

- The district accounts for the specific amounts and uses of all funds provided pursuant to this agreement and agrees not to use these funds for any purpose except in accordance with this agreement.
- The district requires the attendance of principals and other appropriate administrative staff at the initial SCDE meeting related to the roles and responsibilities of the literacy coach as well as any other scheduled meetings or professional learning opportunities (PLOs) for principals and administrators.
- The district provides information on the names, certification numbers, and qualifications/endorsements of reading coaches funded by the state appropriations to the SCDE.
- By accepting the funds, a school district agrees the funds will not be used to supplant existing school district expenditures, except for districts that either are currently, or in the prior fiscal year, were paying for literacy coaches with local funds.
- Funds appropriated for reading/literacy coaches must be used to provide primary, elementary, and/or middle schools with school-based reading/literacy coaches who shall serve according to the provisions in R2S Act. The district agrees to cooperate with any compliance and technical assistance visits from the SCDE during the 2018–19 school year.
- If the SCDE finds the district is using these funds for a coach to perform administrative functions contrary to the statute, the SCDE shall withhold the remaining balance of funds and seek recoupment of the funds spent in an unauthorized manner.

III. JOB QUALIFICATIONS

The SCDE must publish guidelines that define the minimum qualifications for a reading/literacy coach. These guidelines must deem any licensed/certified teacher qualified if, at a minimum, he or she:

- (4) holds a bachelor's degree or higher and the R2S Literacy Coach or R2S Literacy Specialist endorsement; or
- (5) holds a bachelor's degree or higher and is actively pursuing the R2S Literacy Coach or R2S Literacy Specialist endorsement; or
- (6) holds a master's degree or higher in reading or a closely related field and is actively pursuing the R2S Literacy Coach or R2S Literacy Specialist endorsement.

Within these guidelines, the SCDE must assist districts in identifying a reading/literacy coach in the event that the school is not successful in identifying and directly employing a qualified candidate. The provisions of subsection (A), including the local support requirements, shall also apply to any allocations made pursuant to this paragraph.

IV. ALTERNATIVE COACH PROGRAM

If a district is deemed to have the personnel and financial capacity to provide the support and training for school-based reading/literacy coaches, a district may elect to have state-funded coaches obtain the endorsements and receive support through a means other than the SCDE R2S Coach Institute. This alternative training must be rigorous and focused on using data and evidence-based practices. If a district elects to have coaches participate in an alternative training, it must be at the district's expense. All courses provided to coaches to fulfill the R2S Teacher and Coach endorsements must be approved through the R2S approval process in the Office of Early Learning and Literacy.

Districts that wish to provide alternative training for coaches must have courses approved prior to offering courses and must submit both a written request and a detailed plan for providing courses as well as support that will be provided to the coaches.

A written request to provide alternative training must be received by September 21, 2018. Plans for providing alternative training must be received by October 1, 2018.

The SCDE has the final approval for the alternative training.

V. ADDITIONAL AGREEMENTS

The SCDE and the district agree to minimum additional qualifications and responsibilities for a school-based reading/literacy coach. The additional qualifications are as follows:

- Has knowledge of and the ability to apply adult learning theory within professional learning experiences;
- Works effectively with adults and motivates them to change practices;
- Has experience as a successful classroom teacher;
- Has experience in increasing student achievement in reading;

- Has knowledge of evidence-based reading research, quality reading instruction, and a depth of content knowledge;
- Has an ability to integrate reading strategies into other content areas;
- Is experienced in data analysis to inform instruction; and
- Has excellent communication, presentation, interpersonal, and time management skills.

The additional responsibilities include:

- Assist with the development of the school's annual Reading Plan submission;
- Must participate in the SCDE R2S Coach Institute or in an alternate coach program approved by the SCDE;
- Attend all monthly sessions;
- Attend all virtual meeting/training sessions;
- Meet monthly with administration to discuss progress (review data), issues, and concerns based on goals;
- Serve as job-embedded, stable resources for PLOs that adhere to professional learning standards;
- Continue to participate in job-embedded professional development. This professional development will be based on the needs of coaches; and
- Complete documentation and surveys related to job functions.

VI. SPECIFIC PARTIES AGREEMENT DOCUMENT

This link should be provided to each participating school and the survey completed by the appropriate parties by the same date the original Memorandum of Agreement is signed and submitted.

VII. TERMS AND TERMINATION

The SCDE reserves the right to withdraw funding issued pursuant to this agreement if the SCDE determines that the school or district is not utilizing such funding in a manner consistent with legislative requirements for funding, qualifications, and the roles and responsibilities as outlined herein.
