AGENCY'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

SECTION I: Executive Summary

1. Organization's stated purpose, mission, vision and values

Purpose: The purpose of the Attorney General's Office is to serve as the state's chief attorney.

Mission: As chief prosecutor, the Attorney General serves as the primary legal officer for the state. This includes overseeing the State Grand Jury, specified criminal prosecution, appellate and post-conviction relief of all criminal cases in the state, civil litigation of the state, and serving as the Securities Commissioner. The State Grand Jury includes investigation and prosecution of multi-jurisdictional drug offenders, public corruption, election fraud, computer crime violations, terrorism, security fraud, gang activity, and environmental crimes. In addition to prosecuting matters that solicitors deem a conflict of interest, The Attorney General prosecutes all cases of insurance fraud, investigates and prosecutes cases of Medicaid fraud by both providers and recipients; prosecutes cases of patient abuse, prosecutes those accused of involvement in the illegal sport of animal fighting and related crimes. The office operates a program to train pro bono private attorneys to prosecute criminal domestic violence and within the limits of a federal grant prosecutes some CDV cases. In conjunction with a federal grant and organic resources, the office coordinates a task force to investigate and prosecute internet crimes against children, including those involving sexual exploitation. The Attorney General represents the State of South Carolina in all criminal appeals and subsequent Post Conviction Relief, and filings in circuit court and subsequent appeals within the state court system, and in all federal habeas filings in federal court and subsequent appeals. The Attorney General serves as the S.C. Securities Commissioner by providing information on securities laws and practices, investigating allegations of fraud or other violations of securities laws and takes appropriate enforcement action, registering all persons engaged in the sale of securities in the State of South Carolina, and prosecution of criminal violations of securities law. The Attorney General also has important responsibilities in the area of civil law. When the State is a party to a lawsuit, attorneys in the office may represent and advise the State, its agencies, and its officials. The Office represents the State in civil proceedings against dangerous sex offenders for commitment under South Carolina's Sexually Violent Predators statute. The Office maintains official liaison with the General Assembly and researches, writes, and issues opinions when requested by public officials.

Vision: The Office envisions itself as the first line of defense against those elements in society that flout its laws, prey on its citizens, and abuse its legal system.

Values: In addition to encouraging those values prized by society at large – honesty, respect for others, compassion, responsibility – the Attorney General's Office has a special commitment to maintain the highest standards of professional conduct demanded by the legal community. The primary activities of the Office are prosecution and litigation, and its staff is composed largely of attorneys and their support personnel. Therefore, the values that set the Attorney General's Office apart from other State agencies pertain to the practice of law. These include: respect for the legal system, an impartial administration of justice, an adherence to prescribed timetables, and diligence in preparation.

SECTION II: Office Organization and Fiscal Year 2015 review

The office of the Attorney General was established in 1699, and there have been at least 50 persons to have served in that role prior to AG Wilson. It has evolved dramatically in that time, but the office derives its authority constitutionally as the state's chief prosecutor, statutorily as the chief lawyer for the state, and in common law as the chief protector of the public interest. These responsibilities have defined the reorganization within the office over the past year; the focus of management is on these assigned duties.

At the end of June 2015, the Attorney General's Office had 235 employees (7 grant, 42 temporary, 184.125 classified FTEs, 1 agency head). The office is broken into six divisions, with five Deputy Attorneys General supervising. The Deputy for Legal Services handles the matters of Securities and Civil litigation issues. A Deputy identified as the Solicitor General provides strategic legal guidance to insure that all areas of the office are coordinated for consistent legal guidance, as well as overseeing the statutory mandated function of providing legal opinions. The Deputy for Criminal Prosecution supervises the State Grand Jury, general prosecution cases, and specified original jurisdiction cases identified below. The areas of Criminal Appeals, Post-Conviction Relief, Capital Collateral Litigation, and Sexually Violent Predator are supervised by Senior Assistant Deputies under the Chief Deputy. The Executive Division and Administration Division fall under a Deputy identified as the Chief of Staff.

- 1. THE LEGAL SERVICES DIVISION consists of the following sections: Securities, Tobacco, Civil Litigation, and Consumer Protection and Antitrust.
 - a. The Attorney General serves as the State's Securities Commissioner, and the Securities Section assists in fulfilling his duties. This includes registration of brokers, agents, investment advisers, and their representatives prior to their doing business in this state; registering certain securities offerings; receiving notice filings for mutual funds, unit investment trusts, and other federal covered securities; investigating allegations of violations of securities laws and taking appropriate action; promoting investor education to help the investing public make informed decisions and avoid being defrauded; and supporting an equitable, competitive, and efficient securities industry that contributes to the economic health of the State and its citizens. During this past fiscal year, the Securities Section held five educational outreach events which reached 135 retirees and two training seminars for 18 State law enforcement investigators and officers.
 - b. The Tobacco group works with issues related to the Master Settlement Agreement ("MSA") entered into among multiple states and major tobacco manufacturers. Pursuant to the MSA, the States settled claims for the future costs of tobacco-related health expenses; for payments provided each agreed to "diligently enforce" its respective Tobacco Escrow Fund Act. We settled the manufacturer's multi-year litigation effort that now ensures future payment to the state and saves the expense of the litigation.
 - c. The Civil Litigation Section represents State interests in a wide variety of civil legal matters. Matters handled by this section include those related to constitutional challenges, elections, the voting rights act, annexations and incorporations, tidelands ownership, the environment, foreclosures, seizures of illegal video gaming machines, extraditions, removal of river shacks from public waters, and sex offender registry issues.

- d.* The Consumer Protection and Antitrust Section handle allegations of free market violations and unfair and/or deceptive business practices. These cases can be managed individually, through multistate groups, or through the assistance of outside counsel in federal or state court and on behalf of consumers or state agencies. While the majority of cases handled by this section involve pharmaceuticals and unfair trade practices claims, other cases which are the focus of this section include those concerning charitable trusts, elections, and certain gambling-related issues.

2. THE SOLICITOR GENERAL position was formally created to coordinate appellate advocacy, assure consistency of legal positions across division lines, evaluate quality of written and oral advocacy of OAG lawyers, and review National Association of Attorneys General and other amicus requests. This is in line with a majority of states and has proven to be an overdue organizational need. The Solicitor General supervises the previously existing Opinions Section which provides legal advice to the Governor, members of the General Assembly and certain other public officials. Most often, this advice is given in the form of a written opinion. The division issued 116 separate opinions in FY 2015.

3. THE CRIMINAL PROSECUTION DIVISION consists of multiple sections, six of which are prosecution sections and include SGJ attorneys.

- a.* There are two sections for the State Grand Jury and general prosecution. State Grand Jury cases have original jurisdiction for public corruption, multi-jurisdictional drug offenders, election fraud, computer crime violations, terrorism, securities fraud, gang activity, and environmental crimes. General prosecution most commonly handles cases from one of the state's 16 solicitors where the cases are transferred for potential conflicts of interest. This division shares responsibility for prosecuting several crimes that fall under the Office's jurisdiction. These include the crimes listed above and Insurance Fraud. The Insurance Fraud program was established in 1994 with the enactment of the Omnibus Insurance Fraud and Reporting Act. The program receives referrals from the Department of Insurance, the Worker's Compensation Commission, insurance companies, private citizens, law enforcement agencies, and attorneys throughout the state.
- b.* Operating in large part on funds from a federal grant, the Medicaid Provider Fraud Section investigates and prosecutes cases of Medicaid provider fraud in South Carolina. The section also investigates and prosecutes patient abuse in nursing homes and other facilities that receive federal funding. The Medicaid Provider Fraud Section investigated over 350 cases during FY 2015. The Division includes the Medicaid Provider Fraud Section, which convicted 13 individuals for defrauding the Medicaid Program and convicted 6 individuals of patient abuse or exploitation. The Unit recovered over 13 million dollars.
- c.* Working with the SC Department of Health and Human Services, the Medicaid Recipient Fraud Section upholds state and federal Medicaid laws and regulations. The Attorney General's Medicaid Recipient Fraud Unit conducts an investigation into referred cases, leading up to and including criminal prosecution when warranted. Cases include where Medicaid beneficiaries are alleged to have submitted a false application for Medicaid; provided false or misleading information about their family group, marital status, income or resources; shared or lent their Medicaid card to other individuals; sold or bought a Medicaid card; diverted for resale prescription drugs, medical supplies, or other benefits; obtained Medicaid benefits that they are not entitled to by fraudulent means; committed doctor shopping or pharmacy shopping for controlled substances.

- d. The Internet Crimes Against Children Unit operates utilizing significant state funding and funds provided by a federal grant from the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, a part of the U.S. Justice Department. The ICAC Unit has the ability to investigate and prosecute technology-facilitated crimes against children, including sexual exploitation of minors, child pornography, dissemination of obscene material to minors, and criminal solicitation of minors.
 - e. Under the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA), the AG's Office received a federal grant to develop strategies and procedures for the prevention and prosecution of domestic violence, sexual assault, harassment and stalking. The staff is exclusively devoted to combating violence against women by: (1) the prosecution of those charged with domestic violence and sexual assault, (2) the presentation of trainings on domestic violence, stalking, harassment, sexual assault, human trafficking and other crimes against women, and (3) the Attorney General's Pro-Bono Program, which trains volunteer attorneys to prosecute domestic violence cases in jurisdictions lacking dedicated domestic violence prosecutors. Additionally, the Attorney prosecuted over 300 cases with a conviction rate of 63% in the last federal fiscal year. Most recently, a section to combat Human Trafficking was initiated to fulfill a statutory need and address increasing concerns. The human trafficking section held approximately 45 trainings statewide in FY15.
 - f. The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) Fraud Prosecution Section was formed in FY15 in partnership with The South Carolina Department of Social Services (DSS) to prosecute SNAP client trafficking violations in the State. The section operates solely from a federal grant. The section investigated over 100 cases of SNAP trafficking fraud and obtained 41 convictions last fiscal year.
4. THE CRIMINAL LITIGATION DIVISION is comprised of four sections, each falling under a Senior Assistant Deputy Attorney General under the direction of the Chief Deputy. As the state's Chief Prosecutor, the Attorney General is charged with representing the interests of the State in several areas of criminal appellate litigation.
- a. The Criminal Appeals Section represents the State in the SC Supreme Court, the SC Court of Appeals, and the US Supreme Court in all appeals arising from criminal convictions in South Carolina, except appeals arising from murder convictions. The appeal is decided based upon the trial or plea transcript, briefs of the parties, and oral arguments, if scheduled by the appellate court.
 - b. The Post-Conviction Relief ("PCR") Section represents the State in trial and appellate courts in all non-capital PCR actions filed by persons convicted and sentenced for a crime who assert that the conviction or sentence violated the US

Constitution or the SC Constitution. Claims are brought by filing an application for post-conviction relief in the Court of Common Pleas, which may hear the matter in a bench trial. Adverse decisions may be appealed directly to the SC Supreme Court.

- c. The Capital and Collateral Litigation Section represents the state in all murder conviction post trial matters. The Section is responsible for representing the State in all murder conviction appeals in the SC Court of Appeals and the SC Supreme Court. In addition, the Section prosecutes federal habeas actions proceeding from any South Carolina conviction in the Federal District Court, the US Court of Appeals and the US Supreme Court.
 - d. The Sexually Violent Predator (“SVP”) Section represents the State in civil trials for commitment of sexually violent predators. The Section also handles all annual review proceedings for individuals committed under the statute, and all hearings where the Department of Mental Health determines the individuals are safe to be at large and should be released from treatment. The SVP Section handles commitment trials in civil courts for dangerous offenders having completed sentences in the DOC who are unable to return to society.
5. THE ADMINISTRATION DIVISION consists of Sections that support the operational functions of the agency.
- a. The Information Technology Section, which researches, manages, and directs the use of computers, databases, and other technologies.
 - b. The Records Section which maintains cases and documents produced by the Office.
 - c. The Finance Section manages the Office’s cash flow, produces grant proposals, and plays a significant role in fiscal planning.
 - d. The Administrative Services Section includes Human Resources, which manages the recruitment of new employees, prepares payroll and leave records, administers benefits, coordinates employee relations, and performs other human resources duties in support of the Attorney General’s staff. Procurement ensures that the Office spends its limited funds to acquire essential items at the best possible price. Support Services performs miscellaneous services for the Office. The Library maintains legal research assets for the Attorney General’s staff.
6. THE EXECUTIVE DIVISION provides services specified by statute and to assist the Attorney General in many of his constitutional duties not included in other areas of the office.
- a. The Victim Services Section routinely informs crime victims of their rights under the Victims Bill of Rights and assists them in taking full advantage of those rights.
 - b. The Special Projects Section is currently focused on a program to foster positive relationships between at-risk youth and local police officers in order to detour gang recruitment and activity.
 - c. Public Affairs integrates government liaisons, constituent services interaction, social media, and traditional media as part of the message of the Office as the state’s chief legal authority.

SECTION III: FY 2015 and Beyond

Mission Focus: While maintaining the current operations, the Office has several areas for more intensive focus. The limit of resources requires limiting this to a handful of initiatives. Over the past decade, South Carolina has ranked among the top ten states in the category of “men killing women”; and at least twice in recent years, the state has ranked #1. The Attorney General has made the reduction of criminal domestic violence (CDV) his top goal. Additionally, Internet crimes against children have increased with the exponential growth of the worldwide web, and the Office is challenged to do more to protect our young people from these predators. Finally, gang violence statewide has challenged law enforcement at every level.

Logistical Review: Immediate goals for the future include the rebuilding of the basic financial structure of the Office. During the economic downturn in 2008-09, the Office’s budget was slashed with no easement of its responsibilities. Maximizing grants, delaying projects and hiring, and creativity allowed the Office to maintain its obligations with limited resources. However, limits on federal grants, the needs of the office to timely fill positions and exhaustion of creative opportunities means the Office will need to recover the funding cut during periods of diminished tax revenues. In the years since the economic downturn, the office has only had increases for new areas of need, and the office is in dire need of recurring funding for retention of attorneys. A recent review reflects a need to update attorney categorization and increase salaries to retain talent and be competitive with other government entities.

Management Practices: The Office practices self-evaluation at regularly scheduled meetings of Division and Unit directors chaired by the Attorney General. Directors in turn hold meetings with their staff members. In addition, the Office monitors performance through several databases that track cases and other work product. In the past four years, annual management reviews have occurred immediately after the fiscal year, and these reviews are used to determine the Office’s priorities for the upcoming legislative session and for maximizing assets. Resources from the National Association of Attorneys General have been used for management training and in management review. The present emphasis is to empower first line supervisors to foster initiative and increase accountability. The concerns of recovering general fund revenue from the economic downturn of the 2008-09 period is now revealing a loss of middle management and the need to increase funding for retention of management level personnel.
