AGENCY'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ) administers South Carolina's juvenile justice system at the state and local levels and is statutorily mandated to provide rehabilitation and custodial care for the state's juveniles who are on probation, incarcerated, or on parole for a criminal or status offense. DJJ is an integral part of the juvenile justice system in South Carolina, but it operates collaboratively with other related entities including law enforcement, solicitors, family court judges, the Juvenile Parole Board, and staff in other child serving agencies. See the Partner Template for a listing of key juvenile justice partners.

Programs and services are administered primarily under five functional sections: Administrative Services, Community Services, Educational Services, Rehabilitative Services and Security Operations, However, the Divisions of External Affairs and Investigative Services in conjunction with the Offices of Legal and Constituent Services each provide support services and/or programming to assist the agency in accomplishing the following eight strategic goals:

- 1. Invest in and enhance community services to improve youth outcomes by the end of FY 17-18.
- 2. Improve services for juveniles committed to DJJ facilities by the end of FY 17-18.
- 3. Improve academic and vocational outcomes for youth enrolled in the DJJ School District by the end of FY 17-18.
- 4. Expand after-school and job readiness services to improve long-term outcomes for youth by the end of FY 17-18.
- 5. Enhance and increase access to treatment and intervention services system-wide by the end of FY 17-18.
- 6. Expand gang prevention and intervention services across the state by FY 17-18.
- 7. Expand and enhance volunteer services to increase opportunities for pro-social development for youth by FY 17-18.
- 8. Enhance workforce development methods to attract, train and retain qualified direct services employees by the end of FY 17-18.

DJJ remains undeterred and relentless in its pursuit of positive change. The agency is raising the bar in the areas of safety, security and the rehabilitation of justice involved youth. Propelled by tremendous challenge and transition over the past year, DJJ is moving forward, reframing each hurdle as an opportunity to rethink programming and processes and to refocus efforts towards true juvenile justice reform. Director Pough's determination to empower "our" youth for the future is the engine that is driving the train of system reform.

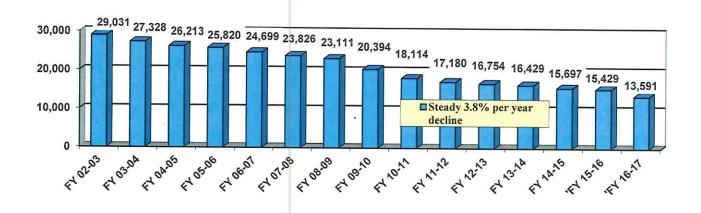

DJJ is creating a new road map that will transform programs and services for juveniles and families system-wide. In June 2017, the agency renewed its longstanding partnership with Clemson University's Youth Learning Institute (YLI). A two day environmental scan meeting was held to jump start the agency's strategic planning process. Guided by YLI, key senior managers explored national trends and state legislation impacting DJJ. On the agenda were the timely topics of Raise the Age Legislation and regionalization. Senate Bill 916, often referred to as the Raise the Age Legislation, was passed on June 6, 2016 and is set to take effect on July 1, 2019 pending the availability of adequate funding. The legislation will increase the age of the population served by SCDJJ to include persons who are under 18 years of age at the time of the offense. Regionalization, if implemented, would change the manner in which DJJ's secure long-term and evaluation facilities are utilized. This move would allow juveniles in long-term secure confinement to be housed in the regional facilities closer to their home communities. The environmental scan process yielded a planning guide that will serve as the foundation for a master plan. If fully implemented, the plan will lead the agency into the future well prepared for Raise the Age legislation and regionalization of services. Change is possible, positive and inevitable when coupled with a solid plan, hard work and dedication.

In FY 16-17, the state continued to experience an overall decrease in juvenile crime. A total of 13,591 new juvenile cases were processed representing a steady 3.5% decrease over the past several years.

Number of Referrals to SCDJJ Intake

The agency is working to reduce juvenile crime and incarceration through a series of both new and existing programs and initiatives designed to prevent offenses for at-risk youth, and to provide treatment and rehabilitation to juveniles who already committed offenses. Evidenced-based interventions such as Cognitive Behavior Therapy and Aggression Replacement Therapy are being used at the Broad River Road Complex and in select county offices. Additionally, DJJ has continued its partnership with the Department of Mental Health to expand Multisystemic Therapy (MST) in an effort to improve outcomes for youth with behavioral health challenges.

With a focus on the front-end of the juvenile justice system, DJJ is helping to make communities safer across South Carolina. The goal is to reach children before they enter the justice system. Arbitration, Gang Resistance and Education Training (G.R.E.A.T.) and the Teen After-school Centers (TASC) are examples of programs implemented to achieve this goal. In FY 16-17, 436 elementary and middle school students attended G.R.E.A.T. classes in 20 counties. Additionally, the TASC sites served 3,792 children.

DJJ is committed to improving outcomes for juvenile offenders through programs and services promoting public safety while reclaiming youth through prevention, community-based programs, education, and rehabilitative services in the least restrictive environment appropriate. In keeping with this philosophy, DJJ is a Performance-based Standards (PbS) site. PbS is a project of the Council of Juvenile Correctional Administrators (CJCA). Its mission is to improve conditions of confinement. Participating facilities measure performance continuously and bi-annually based on seven critical areas of operation: security, safety, order, justice, health and mental health, programming, and reintegration. During the April, 2017 PbS bi-annual data collection period, DJJ's Juvenile Detention Center achieved a rating of Level 4, the highest allowable rating.

DJJ continues to press towards improved academic and vocational outcomes for youth. Improving academic and vocational outcomes for juveniles within the DJJ school district is an agency goal. While the reading scores remained constant, the school district continues to see improvement in the area of math. We are proud to report that the Measure of Academic Progress (MAP) Growth Measures in math is at 98%. This represents an approximate 29% increase in MAP scores over the previous year. The GED pass rate remained constant at 82%. However, 145 juveniles were able to achieve this milestone. This is a 30.6 % increase over FY 15-16. DJJ continues to make gains with regard to job readiness training and job placement. With a well-established vocational and job readiness training platform, the agency is equipping youth with the requisite skills and competencies to be job ready and crime free. This broad-based initiative has multiple components to include the Career and Technology Education (CATE) courses offered within the DJJ school district, the agency's Job Readiness Training Center (JRTC) and the community-based Job Readiness for Teens (JRT) afterschool and summer job readiness training programs.

DJJ underwent the House Legislative Oversight Study process. This two year process concluded in March 2017. The purpose of the House Legislative Oversight Study, as indicated in the SC Code of Laws Section 2-2-20 (B), was to determine if the agency's laws and programs were being implemented in accordance with the intent of the General Assembly and to determine whether or not said laws and programs should be continued, curtailed or eliminated. Inherent in this Oversight Study process was intense self-assessment in conjunction with internal and external scrutiny. This effort resulted in organizational, operational and programmatic improvements such as the implementation of Security Audit recommendations, enhanced data collection processes, expanded training for security officers, and the creation of the Office of Quality Assurance and Compliance.

Risk Assessment and Mitigation Strategies:

DJJ is statutorily mandated to provide rehabilitation and custodial care for the state's juveniles who are on probation, incarcerated, or on parole for a criminal or status offense. Committed to improving outcomes for juvenile offenders, the agency operates programs and services that promote public safety while reclaiming youth through prevention, community-based programs, education, and rehabilitative services in the least restrictive environment appropriate. At the heart of all of this effort is DJJ's mandate to reclaim youth, reduce juvenile crime, and thereby, protect the public.

DJJ looks to the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) and Council of Juvenile Correctional Administrators' (CJCA), PbS project to set criteria for juvenile justice agencies. Moreover, DJJ works cooperatively with other public and private child and family serving agencies and organizations around a shared agenda focusing on improving outcomes for the children, youth and families. According to the latest research, the majority of justice involved youth have at least one mental health disorder. As a founding member of the Joint Council on Children and Adolescents and Palmetto Coordinated System of Care, DJJ is committed to increasing access to quality supports and services and creating a continuum of evidenced-based services for children and youth with behavioral health issues.

DJJ has access to technical assistance from the Children's Law Center and the CJCA. As a PbS participating site, the agency has access to a dedicated PbS coach who is able to provide individualized guidance around critical areas of facility management.

DJJ is able to seek outside assistance to avert and/or mitigate crisis situations. One example of such assistance occurred in the form of salary increases for security staff. DJJ, not unlike other correctional agencies, contends with high turnover rates and staff shortages on a regular basis. The General Assembly approved pay increases for security staff served to improve employee morale making the agency more competitive with other correctional facilities.

At times it may be necessary to seek assistance from the General Assembly regarding legislation applicable to juveniles and/or youthful offenders given Senate Bill 916. The age of juvenile jurisdiction is trending upward nationally. Significant resources are required to develop programming to effectively accommodate young adult offenders. Additionally, the fiscal implications of the Prison Rape Elimination Act (PREA) implementation is yet another consideration that cannot be overlooked. The General Assembly should continue to follow related trends on issues such as reducing isolation in juvenile facilities, prosecution of status offenders and disproportionate minority contact as well the behavioral health needs of juvenile offenders. These issues are at the forefront nationally and have implications for juvenile justice in South Carolina.
