The corresponding Palmetto College linking goals for this goal are:

- Educating future leaders and thinkers through affordable, flexible, and quality educational opportunities
- Assembling and supporting a diverse world-class faculty dedicated to teaching, scholarship, and student success.
- Spurring creativity and innovation, including advanced educational opportunities responsive to regional community needs

AGENCY'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The University of South Carolina Sumter has a long history of providing higher education opportunities and intellectual leadership for the counties of Clarendon, Lee, Kershaw, Sumter, and Williamsburg. It provides innovative and inclusive curricular pathways focused on student success, nurturing critical thinking, civic engagement, and career development, while preparing students to continue their education throughout life.

As a regional Palmetto College campus, the University offers associate degrees in arts and science, while providing substantial local support for numerous baccalaureate degrees offered by four year colleges within the University of South Carolina system. It employs a teaching faculty and administrative staff of high quality, dedicated to excellence in instruction, scholarship, public and professional service, and creative endeavors, thus enriching classroom and life development experiences for its students.

The University of South Carolina Sumter has maintained its commitment to excellence as organizational restructuring, budgetary constraints, and faculty attrition have put numerous pressures on organizational resources. This commitment continues to yield tangible results in enrollment and recruitment, in student retention, success and timely degree completion, in faculty excellence, in service and community engagement, and in sustainability of financial and organizational resources. These priorities support the primary mission of the University, to provide for and to encourage higher education in the counties of Clarendon, Lee, Kershaw, Sumter, and Williamsburg.

Educating future leaders and thinkers through affordable, flexible, and quality educational goals

Along with the other regional Palmetto College campuses, USC Sumter continues to offer the lowest rates of tuition in the USC System. USC Sumter continues to waive and subsidize fees for military personnel as needed. USC Sumter granted approximately $87,000 in private scholarship support over the 2018-2019 Fiscal Year.

Strategies and objectives aimed at the education of future leaders and thinkers focus on: measured growth in the enrollment and recruitment of a competitive and diverse student population; improvement of student retention, success, and timely graduation; high quality faculty and curricular offerings; and student leadership and service learning opportunities that engage the University's broader community of stakeholders. The University of South Carolina Sumter is committed to affordably providing students with flexible and quality access to a general educational background necessary to complete not just associate degrees and but also a baccalaureate degrees, and the opportunities to learn knowledge and skills needed for lifelong education and success.

Leaders at USC Sumter recognize the challenges facing students when their college path takes longer than needed or expected. This is particularly true of an institution like USC Sumter whose student population reflects large numbers of first-generation and low-income college students. Therefore, the University is committed to improvement of freshman to sophomore retention and persistence rates, timely associate degree graduation rates, and success in transfer rates to baccalaureate degree granting institutions. These efforts are maximized by flexible and robust curricular offerings, continual improvement in faculty advisement and mentorship, critical first year seminar programs, and appropriate academic and student support services.

USC Sumter also offers tutoring services free of charge for students in the areas in which many students often struggle. These include, math, the sciences, foreign language, and writing among others. These services are centralized in the Anderson Library with regularly scheduled hours and appointment capability. The use of these services has been strong.

For at-risk students and those suffering from disabilities, USC Sumter has had a Trio student Support Services program (OSP) operating on campus for many years. This federally-funded program offers additional academic support for students who have met certain eligibility standards. Furthermore, USC Sumter has a dedicated Disability Services coordinator who can offer academic support services for students who have been diagnosed with any disability which impacts their learning.

USC Sumter is committed to delivering robust and relevant academic degree programs that will not only prepare them for success in furthering their educational pursuits, but also last a lifetime. At the center of this commitment is a strong general educational curricular, the Carolina Core. In addition to curricular excellence, success in educational and lifetime pursuits are enhanced by USC Sumter’s participation, in conjunction with USC Columbia, in the Graduation with Leadership Distinction program which encourages students to engage in related in-class and outside-the-classroom activities and integrate those experiences into their graduation term. This program provides opportunities to expand a new focus on high-impact experiential learning that includes undergraduate research, internships, service learning, study abroad opportunities, and peer and mentoring leadership opportunities.

Establishing a sustainable student recruitment and onboarding plan has been a top priority. Increased high school visits and enhanced follow-up communication plans have helped streamline the process for new students, moving prospects to enrollments in a quicker and more efficient manner. Utilization of the CRM, SMS texting, and e-mail and phone campaigns have also contributed to an increase in applicants, admits, and new enrollments. In addition, the admissions processing unit has been reorganized to review and make decisions on applicant files in a more timely and efficient manner. This reorganization has led to significant increases in early admit decisions over previous years. The University of South Carolina is committed to attracting and admitting students who are likely to be successful and who will return to us for a second year (at least). The school offers several services and opportunities that are designed to aid in student retention. These efforts are directed both at the academic success of the students as well as their social and cultural development. Campus-wide campaigns through electronic and traditional communication channels have proven successful in promoting early next-term registration and providing effective ongoing follow-up for students who are not enrolled.

Assembling and supporting a diverse world-class faculty dedicated to teaching, scholarship, and student success

As a regional Palmetto College campus, USC Sumter seeks to provide students with a quality faculty capable of providing the variety of curriculum offerings and educational delivery modes needed to effect mission objectives. With 240 first-time, full-time freshman enrolling in Fall 2018, a world class faculty dedicated to teaching, scholarship, and student success is an essential component to meeting such objectives. USC Sumter continues to maintain a low student: faculty ratio of 17.9, ensuring students receive quality personalized attention and support. These efforts at ensuring a world class faculty and a low student: faculty ratio, are intricately intertwined with mission objectives associated with retention, student success and transfer, and timely degree completion.

USC Sumter continues to make tenure track hires in disciplinary areas that can make immediate contributions to critical curriculum need areas both at USC Sumter and for Palmetto Programs to replace losses due to attrition. During FY 2018-2019 successful tenure-track searches were conducted in mathematics, psychology, and statistics.

The University also continues to promote faculty development of needed distributive education courses and expand the number of faculty participating in distributive education course offerings, professional development training programs, and new distributive education course development. Efforts continue to more fully integrate our faculty advisement with Palmetto College advisement processes and the new Palmetto College Advisors Community of Practice. Faculty scholarship continues to be supported by ample institutional commitment to the resources needed for presentations at state, regional, national, and international peer academic conferences. Faculty are offered up to $1,500 in travel costs each year to present research at academic conferences. Faculty are invited to take part in USC Sumter Seminar Series to present their work for feedback. Faculty are encouraged to apply for grants including Aspire, RISE, and USC Sumter Summer Stipend to support research projects. Faculty may apply for a course reduction in order to facilitate research. Faculty may apply for a sabbatical to facilitate research. Faculty performing research are honored each year at Faculty Scholarship Reception.

Faculty engagement in teaching, research, and service is central to each faculty member’s annual, and peer review processes and ultimately serve as the basis of their tenure and promotion decisions. Faculty are provided travel money, many Library resources, including access to USC Columbia holdings, and formal and informal links to institutions in Sumter including, the Sumter County Gallery of Art, the Sumter Little Theatre, the Sumter County Library, the Sumter County Museum, among others.

An endowed grant from the Korn Trust affords faculty from the Division of Arts & Letters funding for various cultural events and the annual sponsorship a public Seminar series. Internal stipends exist to sponsor faculty for summer research projects and initiatives. Active administrative and Faculty Organization leadership exists for the pursuit of RISE grants.

Four endowed Chairs support the exhibition of excellence by USC Sumter faculty: the McDavid Professorship of Business & Economics; the Williams-Brice-Edwards Professor of Social Science; the Julian T. Buxton Professor of Business Administration; and the R.J. “Chic” Mathis Professorship.

Spurring creativity and innovation, including advanced educational opportunities responsive to regional community demands

As a regional Palmetto College campus, USC Sumter seeks achieve mission objectives by continually strengthening current relationships, and building new relationships, with community partners and stakeholders. Such service and community engagement are critical to not just the University’s academic mission but its larger mission to improve the economic output and quality of life for stakeholders in its service area.

Continued creativity and innovation in curricular offerings, course delivery mediums, and service learning opportunities, such as that associated with the Graduation with Leadership Distinction program, help sustain and increase patterns of retention, success and transfer, and timely graduation of both traditional and non-traditional students. In addition to academic coursework, University offerings includes non-credit courses, seminars, and workshops made available to the community for cultural enrichment and professional development.

USC Sumter faculty continue to increase scholarly productivity and research. In FY 2018, faculty at USC Sumter have produced 5 book chapters, 14 peer review articles and publications, and 1 peer review book review; while making 39 academic conference presentations. There have also be 11 instances of USC Sumter faculty serving as editor or on editorial review boards for peer review publications or serving as referees or judges in a peer reviewed context. Challenges involve striking a balance between teaching, scholarship, and service at a campus institutionally organized as a teaching institution. The mission prioritizes teaching and places a demanding teaching load on full-time faculty. Efforts to provide course load reductions and sabbaticals to enhance research productivity continue as resources and circumstances reasonably allow.

Building inclusive and inspiring communities, on campus and online

As a regional palmetto College campus, USC Sumter strives to be a destination of choice for students residing in its services area, while attracting top faculty and staff from a variety of backgrounds, races, cultures, and creeds. In order to recruit and retain high-achieving and high-quality faculty, staff, and students, the University recognizes that the quality of life on the University campus must be welcoming, inclusive, and encouraging.

USC Sumter promotes a variety of cultural events along with clubs and organizations that include people from all walks of life. The clubs range from interest groups, political groups, leadership, social, professional, sport, religious, etc.

Student experiences with clubs and organizations build networks spanning beyond peer groups and the classroom to include a broader range of activity with faculty, staff, and external University stakeholders. Extra-curricular activities facilitate exposure to situations enabling growth in intrapersonal skills and team building. Such activities provide situational contexts broadening social networks to ameliorate daily interactions on campus and during planned events. Thus, such activities channel a camaraderie among diverse stakeholders into a sustainable campus community. Through all clubs and organizations Student Life can “take the pulse” of the campus and add programs that students want and need. Student involvement in campus decision making is critical to mission objectives and a sustainable campus community.

Each year our OSP program enables students to attend a Student Leadership & Diversity Conference at on the USC Columbia campus and provides funds for wide variety of students to attend the SC Day at the State House. Each year student Life promotes and holds several social mixers for students, staff and faculty, along with monthly events designed to engage extra and co-curricular activities, and a campus “community” of peers.

This year we continued our annual Martin Luther King Day Walk with the campus community and other Sumter community stakeholders. We held poetry readings and faculty seminars associated with topics extending to inclusivity and barriers to inclusivity. We are hosting a Student Leadership Conference in May of 2019 that involved students in our OSP program, our Graduation with Leadership Distinction program and our Early College program. We plan to continue offering this Student Leadership Conference opportunity on campus every other year in the future.

Promoting recognized institutional excellence

As a regional Palmetto College campus, USC Sumter continues to garner state and national recognition for excellence. Niche, a website that helps students discover the schools and neighborhoods that are right for them, released its 2019 College Rankings. The University of South Carolina Sumter was named the #5 Best Community College in America and #2 in the state of South Carolina. Niche analyzes 4,271 colleges to create rankings and Niche Grades for all aspects of campus life, including academics, student life and value. These rankings and grades are based on rigorous analysis of academic, admissions, financial and student life data from the U.S. Department of Education along with millions of reviews from students and alumni. In the Fall of 2018 USC Sumter was recognized as Military Friendly School by Victor Media, a national recognition highlighting schools that demonstrate excellence in their efforts to assist military personnel transitioning into civilian life. In the Spring of 2018 USC Sumter was again voted best college in Sumter for the 17th year in a row by Sumter Item Newspaper readers. More than 100,00 votes from the community were recorded for the 2018 Best of Sumter contest. The Sumter Item Newspaper reaches more than 150,000 unique users each month through print and digital products and is the primary media outlet for Sumter, Lee and Clarendon counties.

USC Sumter has been able to accomplish this while being financially responsible and maintaining a balanced budget, and while keeping a minimum of three months operating budget in reserve. We have also achieved significant enrollment growth to better ensure institutional stability.

Risk Assessment and Mitigation Strategies

Increasing enrollment at USC Sumter continues to be a primary focus. The tuition differential between us and CCTC next door, as well as an unfortunate growing overlap in mission, is a significant challenge in recruiting students. We have grave concerns that the SC Technical College system is positioning itself to deliver bachelor’s degrees soon, marking the greatest over-reach and confusion of mission yet attempted by this major competitor. Many of the students we serve are first generation students who have little experience or understanding of the white-collar job market. They see the promises from CCTC of free tuition, lower admissions standards, and promises of a high paying technical job at a local plant as a better “deal” than a four-year time commitment, paying higher tuition, to get a job they don’t have much personal experience with or understanding of (e.g., middle-management, professional services, etc.). If CCTC begins to offer bachelor’s degrees, the differentiation between the two institutions will likely be completely lost on the students we serve. Recruiting students in this climate of competition is difficult, but several things would help. We need to add campus housing to attract a talented student body from across the state to come here, see the careers that are available in Sumter, and to recognize that Sumter is quickly becoming a destination of choice for major employers. Additional tuition mitigation would help us compete with CCTC—we need to be able to offer the same free-tuition programs as CCTC does. Finally, improved facilities to provide state-of-the-art educational experiences would greatly help recruiting and educational efforts.

University of South Carolina Sumter has placed the recruitment of additional students as one of its top priorities during this past Academic Year. Considering the retirement of the Associate Dean for Student Affairs, the campus undertook a study regarding structure and duties. It was determined that a new and more directed focus was needed on the functions of Enrollment Management. These duties had fallen under the Associate Dean for Student Affairs but were one set of many duties. As a result, the decision was made not to replace the Associate Dean but rather to redistribute the duties of that office and hire an Executive Director for Enrollment Management Services. With this new position in place, over the course of FY 2018 we made considerable strides in restructuring admission and recruitment services, application processing, and financial aid processing. Considering that, USC Sumter has seen steady progress in increasing enrollments and robust full-time, first time freshman cohorts.

Financial Aid, Admissions, and Veterans affairs were brought together under the new Executive Director to better integrating these crucial services aimed at moving students more efficiently, effectively, and quickly from inquiry to admitted status. A new CRM system has been instituted and is aggressively used to track and communicate with students. In Fall 2017 we experienced significant enrollment growth, followed by significant growth in Fall 2018. Fall 2019 enrollments we also are trending upward toward levels not seen in many years.
