South Carolina Educational Television Narrative for 20-21 Accountability Report

Agency overview. South Carolina ETV is a valued asset to the citizens of South Carolina and provides educational resources for students, educators, families and caregivers. SCETV supports emergency preparedness throughout the state and provides government transparency through coverage of news and public affairs. SCETV reaches out to all audience segments regardless of age, economic status, race or political affiliations.

SCETV and South Carolina Public Radio are the only statewide broadcasting service in the state, with signals reaching rural areas where viewers and listeners often do not have access to or cannot afford cable or Internet services. SCETV is often the primary source of educational and cultural content for these areas as one of the few remaining free, over-the-air broadcast options.

SCETV has a tradition of covering events and people that impact public policy in South Carolina, including legislative sessions and elections. This transparency in state government gives citizens an opportunity to learn how government works and to stay informed.

Education services for K-12. The origins of SCETV trace back to 1957 when the South Carolina General Assembly passed a concurrent resolution calling for the study of the use of television in public schools. During the FY20-21 year of remote learning, SCETV's education team listened, shifted and provided the resources and services to meet the needs of South Carolina districts, schools, teachers and students.

To support districts in the swift transition to remote learning, SCETV implemented a datacasting pilot to support instructional delivery in areas where Internet access is not available or connectivity is limited. Datacasting uses the network's broadcast signal to send learning content to students' devices. During the FY20-21 pilot program, SCETV made 128 datacasting kits available to students in Dillon School District 4, Fairfield County School District, Jasper County School District, York County School District 1 and Virtus Academy. Educators created 113 accounts for Educast, SCETV's homegrown learning management system for managing datacasting lessons. Of the educators responding to a datacasting survey, 100 percent perceive datacasting as a valuable component of the instructional delivery system. As SCETV's broadcast signal covers 98 percent of South Carolina, datacasting is a viable complement to the state communications infrastructure.

The network also made significant progress in the ongoing effort to close South Carolina's digital divide. In November 2020, SCETV began working with the Office of Regulatory Staff and multiple other state, local and private sector partners to launch the Allendale Broadband Pilot Project. Funded by ORS using $393,104 of CARES Act appropriations, the project uses SCETV's existing tower infrastructure to power three public wi-fi hubs in Allendale County and provide Internet access to approximately 1,000 homes in the community. In addition to this project, through a partnership with Sprint, SCETV has created more than 490 wireless hotspots at afterschool and early learning sites across the state.

During the pandemic, the network launched At-Home Learning to provide parents, students and teachers with curriculum-aligned content on the network's primary broadcast channel. SCETV modified its broadcast schedule to air educational programs targeting middle and high school students. This initiative, now called Learning+, also included learning activities available through SCETV's website to complement all content broadcast in the modified programming schedule.

AGENCY NAME:	EDUCATION TELEVISION COMMISSION
AGENCY CODE:	H670	SECTION:	008

Early Learning Services and Resources. SCETV also placed increased emphasis on early learning services and resources in FY20-21. The network is an active partner in the state's Early Childhood Advisory Council and worked to enhance early childhood programming with South Carolina First Steps and Head Start. In FY20-21, SCETV hosted virtual workshops and screening events specific to the debut of PBS Kids shows, "Hero Elementary" and "Donkey Hodie." SCETV also implemented National School Breakfast week activities for the second year, engaging early learners in some of the state's most rural counties and serving more than 1,500 students statewide. Over 500 children participated in STEM-related activities as a part of the PBS Ready to Learn Initiative. The initiative introduced children to STEM and literacy concepts helpful in increasing successful educational outcomes.

Along with the outreach events, SCETV managed two early learning subscription services. First, the agency continued to use Bright by Text, a texting subscription service for early learning parents and caregivers. More than 120 subscribers registered for the service, and the numbers continue to increase. Second, SCETV also launched the SCETV Kids Club as a free subscription program that drew more than 1,200 children, ages 0 - 12, last year. The club promotes literacy, learning through play and healthy decision making.

To assess the effectiveness of educational resources and services, SCETV deployed an annual teacher survey to measure the use of SCETV resources in the classroom. Of the 1,564 survey respondents who participated in SCETV professional development workshops, 98 percent found the resources and services valuable. Survey results also indicated that respondents taking SCETV recertification courses found the course valuable, and 98 percent of KnowItAll.org users found it a valuable resource for teaching and learning. Responses gave insight into additional content needs and ways SCETV could continue to enhance both sites. All survey results help SCETV ensure that services align, not only with the needs of educators, but also with the tenets outlined in the Profile of the South Carolina Graduate.

Professional Development for Educators. In FY20-21, SCETV provided professional development to more than 6,000 active, retired and pre-service teachers in Pre-K-12 and higher education entities through training and workshops that supported personalized, collaborative learning experiences. The agency supplemented these professional development sessions with information about the network's educational resources, including the newly designed KnowItAll.org. SCETV also addressed educator feedback and consolidated LearningWhy.org and Knowitall.org under the new KnowItAll.org umbrella. The new platform now features more than 9,500 videos, teacher lessons, interactive learning tools, virtual field trips, handouts, photos and audio files. During this year of remote learning, KnowItAll.org average monthly page views increased from 20,000 to 140,000, reflecting a growth rate of 600 percent.

Throughout FY20-21, more than 700 educators received recertification or renewal credit using SCETV resources. The S.C. Department of Education or the appropriate learning institution approved all of the courses. Topics ranged from literacy instruction to digital learning to culturally responsive teaching. South Carolina PBS LearningMedia, an award-winning media-on-demand service, gives teachers access to thousands of free, standards-aligned and curriculum-targeted digital resources from SCETV. In FY20-21, South Carolina PBS's LearningMedia library included more than 100,000 multimedia resources for Pre-K-12 educators with an average of 20,007 users and more than 87,000 page views per month from South Carolina.

In FY20-21, SCETV received PBS Education Media Literacy Academy grant funds to pilot a professional learning cohort focused on media literacy. The program is self-paced, facilitated and requires participants to earn four microcredentials making up the PBS Media Literacy Educator Certification by PBS station KQED. Credentials focused on developing online spaces that promote positive school culture and support safe and responsible technology use; critically analyzing media; and making media for classroom use. Of the nine members of the cohort, four completed the requirements to earn the media literacy credential. They are the first South Carolina educators to be credentialed.

Advancing Education for All of South Carolina. In FY20-21, the agency produced a variety of content about education in South Carolina. "Carolina Classrooms" is SCETV's series for teachers, parents and anyone invested in the education of the state's children. Topics of emphasis included workforce development, kindergarten readiness, Read to Succeed and equity in education. Other content relevant to the programs' topics was presented via SCETV's website and the SCETV Education Facebook page.

SCETV also partnered with several organizations to provide technical services to advance the cause of education. One example is the partnership with the South Carolina chapter of the American Board of Trial Advocates in support of the James Otis Lecture Series. Each fall, SCETV produces, streams live to schools and records for future broadcast the James Otis Lecture Series. Now in its 12th year, the James Otis Lecture is SC ABOTA's contribution to the federal mandate stipulating federally funded schools must have a program every year on or around Constitution Day.

SCETV also partnered with the SCDE, Arts in Basic Curriculum and the Center for the Education and Equity of African American Students at the University of South Carolina to produce standard-aligned, in-studio recorded teacher lessons. The partnership resulted in more than 40 asynchronous lessons that target students from elementary to high school, across subjects and standards.

In FY20-21, the agency helped produce the S.C. Association of School Administrators' annual conference to offer professional development to school administrators, livestreamed their annual gala and recorded their legal forum. SCETV also supported livestreaming of the STEM Teacher of the Year press conference and produced promotional videos and introductions for several education partners.

Supporting State Agencies. SCETV continued to develop learning materials for other state agencies. SCETV hosted the Criminal Justice Academy's self-paced content and training for retired SLED agents and state constables who do not have access to CJA's training system. Use of SCETV's SLED Constable online training site was up 9 percent over last year with 1,526 current user accounts. Public safety officers earned 1,639 certificates. SCETV also partnered with the SC Department of Administration's Division of Technology Operations to create and deliver free online interoperable communications courses to all public safety personnel in the state.

Local Television Production. SCETV airs live coverage of the House and Senate on its SCETV World channel during the legislative session from January to May, and the live stream of the session is delivered through the state's legislative website. As part of the 2020 election cycle, SCETV partnered with The Post and Courier to broadcast and stream debates for two of the state's critical races – U.S. Senate and the First Congressional District. Additionally, SCETV continued to play a major role in covering the Governor's emergency management press conferences and other important announcements related to COVID-19. In spring 2021, the network partnered with the S.C. Department of Health and Environmental Control to broadcast a one-hour COVID-19 vaccine-focused town hall discussion.

Recognizing the need for more community discussion around important issues, such as racial injustice, SCETV launched a new, community engagement-focused series, "Palmetto Perspectives." Bringing together a diverse group of voices to discuss the important issues facing the state, the first episode featured a panel of leaders from South Carolina's African American community who shared their perspectives related to ongoing racial injustice, biases within law enforcement and more. With the goal of airing "Palmetto Perspectives" episodes quarterly, the network followed up with an October 2020 episode focused on voting and a February 2021 episode on health disparities.

In August 2020, in celebration of the 100th anniversary of women receiving the right to vote, SCETV aired "Sisterhood: SC Suffragists – Moving Forward." Featuring a panel discussion about the issues facing women today, the program highlighted the role South Carolina women played in the national suffrage movement. SCETV also produced three documentaries around this anniversary with each focused on a different set of South Carolina sisters who were influential in the women's suffrage movement.

SCETV continued producing and airing several local, regular series. "Making it Grow" is the network's gardening and nature-focused program now in its 28th year. The weekly program, produced by SCETV's regional studio in Sumter, S.C., is the network's most-viewed local show. "Palmetto Scene" is a weekly magazine program that highlights the events and people making headlines across South Carolina. "By the River," the network's literature-focused series in its third season, is a collaboration with University of South Carolina, Beaufort. Its entire crew consists of students from USCB's Communication Studies program.

"This Week in South Carolina," the network's current events and public affairs program, ramped up coverage efforts around Election 2020. New episodes of "This Week in South Carolina" air first on Fridays with a new oneminute daily news flash that launched during the 2021 legislative session to keep viewers informed during the week. Titled "TWISC60," the news flash aired at 5:59 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays during the session and was shared via SCETV's social media channels.

In September 2020, SCETV premiered "Gullah Roots" – an hour-long documentary following leaders of the South Carolina and Georgia Gullah Geechee community as they experienced a homecoming in Sierra Leone.

Flexibility in Program Production Due to Pandemic Limitations. The pandemic forced the network to be flexible and adapt its normal production protocol to adhere to social distancing and other public health guidelines. The agency's digital team adjusted plans for season two of its "Backroad Bites" series amidst the limited operational status of many eateries across the state. Titled "Backroad Bites: Take-Out Edition," the new season spotlighted the take-out options across South Carolina and reinforced the importance of community to these local restaurants.

SCETV's digital team worked around the pandemic to collaborate with the S.C. Department of Parks, Recreation and Tourism to produce a video series about the state's unique tourism destinations and activities. "Go For It" took viewers on a trip to experience what the state has to offer. A digital-first series, "Go For It" premiered on both agencies' social media channels before being repurposed for use on air.

Following the releases of "Backroad Bites: Takeout Edition" and "Go for It," "From the Sky" debuted as another digital-first series exploring the aerial perspective of some of the state's top landmarks and other interesting locations.

SCETV and National Productions. For more than 60 years, SCETV has been the state's primary storyteller, weaving together many stories to form the charming cultural fabric of the state. More than just a source of comfort and inspiration for South Carolinians, these stories also reached audiences outside of South Carolina. PBS or one of PBS' public media allies selected four projects that SCETV co-produced or presented for national distribution. This includes season six of "Reel South," a curated documentary film series; season three of "Yoga in Practice," a 30-minute instructional yoga program; the inaugural season of a lifestyle and culinary series called "How She Rolls;" and a new documentary film, "A Will to Preach" chronicling the life and impact of renowned minister and Greenville native, Bishop Will Willimon.

Public Radio Programming. SC Public Radio has been broadcasting in South Carolina for 48 years. With a weekly audience of more than 300,000 in FY20-21, SC Public Radio reaches listeners through streaming and ancillary apps such as Tune-In, Public Radio Player, NPR News and Music, NPR One and iTunes radio.

The global pandemic and the November 2020 elections made this a heavy news year. SC Public Radio and its team of reporters ramped up coverage efforts to ensure that South Carolina citizens remained informed. "SC Lede" – the network's public affairs podcast – produced more than 50 episodes of the normally weekly podcast between March and August 2020. Like SCETV, SC Public Radio provided live coverage of a U.S. Senate debate and a First Congressional District debate. The network also continued to simulcast the Governor's emergency management press conferences and other important announcements related to COVID-19.

Charleston's renowned Spoleto Festival USA returned after taking a year off because of the pandemic. As has been the case for 40 years, SC Public Radio provided coverage of the festival. "Sonatas & Soundscapes," which airs weekdays on the network's news and music stations, featured Spoleto content during Spoleto. The program featured performances from the festival's Chamber Music series, interviews with musicians and repeat appearances by the festival's director of Chamber Music. SC Public Radio's "Spoleto Backstage" podcast returned for the 2021 festival with new episodes premiering Tuesdays and Fridays from June 1 to July 5.

SC Public Radio also collaborated with several organizations to launch new initiatives. In partnership with The ColaJazz Foundation, the network debuted a new jazz-focused series in April 2021 called "ColaJazz Presents." Hosted by Mark Rapp, executive director of The ColaJazz Foundation, the series features performances and interviews from a diversity of South Carolina's top jazz musicians offering an intimate glimpse into their lives, communities and passion for music. SC Public Radio participated in StoryCorps' Military Voices Initiative. Made possible by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, the initiative captured the experiences of veterans, service members and military families. Over two weeks in April, StoryCorps offered 50 virtual recording sessions that SC Public Radio listeners could sign up for, inviting the veteran in their life to participate.

In FY20-21, SC Public Radio redesigned its website – southcarolinapublicradio.org. With six reporters providing statewide news coverage, the new site builds on the network's mission to serve as a top source for local and national news. The website offers a wealth of livestreams and on-demand audio, so listeners can access their favorite programs on their schedule. Southcarolinapublicradio.org also allows for listeners to engage with the station and its most recognizable personalities through music playlists, quizzes and behind-the-scenes content.

Television and Radio Audience Analytics. User analytics confirmed SCETV's online content distribution and the audience for locally produced television and radio content are steady or growing across all platforms. On the broadcast side, SCETV continued to attract approximately 500,000 weekly cumulative household viewings in 2020. SC Public Radio continues to attract an average of 300,000 broadcast listeners each week.

While traditional television viewers and radio listeners still hold steady and account for the overwhelming majority of the network's total audience, SCETV's digital assets continued to experience significant growth over the last year. That's why SCETV and SC Public Radio continue to pursue a multi-platform approach when developing new programs.

On social media, the SCETV and SC Public Radio Facebook pages have achieved steady growth for the last few years. In 2018, those two pages saw 4.7 million impressions. In 2019, that number grew to 8.3 million; and, in 2020, total impressions ballooned to 12.9 million. The same trend can be seen on Twitter, where the network's two primary accounts have gone from achieving 2.7 million impressions in 2018 to 2.9 million impressions in 2019 to 7.2 million impressions in 2020.

Beyond social media, the network continues to promote the SCETV app, which provides viewers and listeners with live streams and a library of on-demand radio and television content. In FY20-21, more than 2 million users in South Carolina streamed PBS Kids content on an SCETV or PBS digital platform. Beyond that, nearly 1.9 million users streamed PBS content on one of SCETV's digital platforms, including the SCETV app and the scetv.org website. On the radio side, more than 1.6 million listeners used an SC Public Radio livestream or downloaded an SC Public Radio podcast in FY20-21 – an 8 percent increase over the previous fiscal year.

This digital audience growth can also be seen when looking at the agency's website analytics. In five of the last six calendar years, scetv.org has experienced an increase in total users. The agency's SC Public Radio website experienced a 21 percent increase in total users from FY19-20 to FY20-21. Total users have increased 175 percent when compared with FY 2018-19 data.

Public Health and Safety Initiatives. In addition to educational initiatives At-Home Learning and datacasting, the network ramped up its news coverage efforts to keep South Carolinians informed. SCETV's broadcast and digital platforms provided live coverage of each of Gov. Henry McMaster's COVID-19-focused press briefings. In total, those briefings attracted approximately 3 million views across the network's various platforms.

The agency continued to grow its weather service. In partnership with WUFT in Gainesville, Florida, this storytelling-based service provided live hurricane, tropical storm and other weather-related emergency content to South Carolina residents and visitors across the state most often in real time. The service pulls data from eight remote weather stations across the state. During weather events, Facebook Live streams allow citizens to connect with weather experts.

SCETV continued its partnership with the SC Telehealth Alliance that has been in place since 2015. Consisting of several organizations that develop and expand telehealth services, this initiative has helped cut costs and increased access to healthcare for residents across the state. As a result of COVID-19, the partnership with the Telehealth Alliance became even stronger telling stories of family struggles and socioeconomic issues that impede progress toward fair and equal access to healthcare, specifically in the rural areas.

Television and Radio Programming Recognition. In FY20-21, SCETV and SC Public Radio received many awards for excellence and innovation. America's Public Television Stations presented its 2021 Excellence in Innovation Award to SCETV recognizing the network's datacasting initiative. The SCETV and SC Public Radio news teams received seven first-place awards and six second-place awards from the Radio Television Digital News Association of the Carolinas. The national RTDNA honored a SC Public Radio reporter with one of its regional Edward R. Murrow Awards for the second year in a row.

SCETV's literature-focused series, "By the River," received two Communicator Awards – the Award of Excellence in the Television Cultural category and the Award of Distinction in the Television Interview category. The network received a record 13 Telly Awards – six silver trophies and seven bronze trophies. The network also received four Southeastern Emmy Awards nominations.

Emergency Preparedness Infrastructure. SCETV works with the Governor's Office and the Emergency Management Division to communicate important information such as inclement weather alerts, state office closings and evacuations. The network maintains 549 towers, including 47 tall towers (200 feet or higher) and the microwave backbone for emergency and public safety communications. SCETV also houses critical communications infrastructure for SLED, DNR, EMD, the Forestry Commission, DOD, DHS, Civil Air Patrol and 14 NOAA Weather Radio Service transmitters. SCETV maintains and manages the SCHEART (South Carolina Healthcare Emergency Amateur Radio Team) infrastructure, which includes a network of over 50 radio repeaters. SCHEART reached participating hospitals in the state and allowed the flow of information on incoming patients, evacuations, and coordination among facilities during emergencies and weekly communications exercises.

Financial and Entrepreneurial Activities. SCETV's television/web production services provide a revenue stream beyond state appropriations that has remained consistent from year to year. In FY20-21, those efforts generated $525,934. Grants, external clients, state agency clients, tower lease payments, use of broadcast spectrum, facilities rental and SCETV's Rapid Response Studio (live shots for national news organizations) make up most of this revenue. Like other public media organizations, the network receives critical funding from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

The relationship between SCETV and the ETV Endowment remained strong in FY20-21. The Endowment is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit founded in 1977 that provides funding for programming broadcast on SCETV, South Carolina Public Radio and other public media stations. The Endowment raised $7,313,319 in FY20-21 and has 46,920 active donors. The ETV Endowment received its ninth consecutive 4-star rating from Charity Navigator in recognition of its commitment to accountability and fiscal responsibility, placing the Endowment in the top 4 percent of charities evaluated. In FY20-21, SCETV and the ETV Endowment offered community screenings, donor and other outreach events throughout the state. Programs featured webinars and panel discussions on a range of topics from Gullah culture and South Carolina nature to a series on estate planning and biscuit making. During the year, nearly 3,000 people participated in the online and in-person events.

Broadcast Infrastructure. SCETV's infrastructure is key to the agency's ability to meet its mission especially in the face of ever emerging technologies. Annually, SCETV upgrades and refreshes the network infrastructure, providing additional security, flexibility, visibility and speed. Upgrades allow SCETV to provide more reliable customer service in a secure, reliable manner.

In 2016, the legislature directed SCETV to manage tower and antenna operations within state government. Since then, SCETV annually collects the detailed information necessary to expand the use of more than 549 SCETV towers, all of other state agencies' 100+ foot towers, and all other state-owned assets determined to be eligible for antenna placement. Collecting this information involves site visits, legal research, contract negotiation, and land use agreements. The process can take months for a single tower.

SCETV also manages existing communications site tower licenses and negotiating new licenses. Each license application usually takes several months from start to execution, and SCETV currently is working on approximately 17 new licenses and amendments to existing licenses.

Conclusion. Based on performance measures adopted in FY2019-20, SCETV has met and exceeded the agency goals—to work toward creating a more entrepreneurial agency; produce and distribute education programs; provide quality media programs and transparency services; and produce, aggregate and present broadcast TV, radio and web programming.

SCETV is a valued and trusted resource within the state of South Carolina. The network looks forward to continued service to South Carolina to support the state in education, emergency communications, public safety and civic leadership. SCETV is recognized as a center of distinction for the region and the nation, providing crucial information and education to the communities it serves.
