AGENCY'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

SCDES Introduction and Analysis

The South Carolina Department of Environmental Services (SCDES) is a state cabinet agency established by South Carolina law on July 1, 2024, with specific mandates for ensuring the protection and preservation of the environment for the benefit of all South Carolinians.

SCDES has offices throughout the state, with more than 1,200 team members providing environmental oversight and essential services impacting the quality of life of our residents while supporting our vibrant business community. The agency is comprised of environmental experts who use science and data to drive decisions and actions for protecting South Carolina's air, land, water and coast for generations to come. SCDES supports sustainable growth of our flourishing state to ensure economic development with sensible environmental stewardship. Through community partnerships and stakeholder engagement, we use collaboration as our greatest tool for addressing environmental challenges and supporting communities across the state.

SCDES has five environmental bureaus:

- Bureau of Water
- Bureau of Air Quality
- Bureau of Land and Waste Management
- Bureau of Coastal Management
- Bureau of Regional and Laboratory Services

These five environmental bureaus are assisted by several essential support teams, including Human Resources, Finance and Operations, Office of Technology, Communications, Collaborative Partnerships and Strategic Initiatives, Legislative Affairs, General Counsel, Constituent Services and others.
The agency's staff are more than engineers, scientists and inspectors – they are collaborators, educators, advisors and public servants, who work to ensure South Carolinians thrive in a healthy and sustainable environment. SCDES is committed to solutions to environmental challenges that enhance the environment and the wellbeing of all South Carolinians. The agency's mission seeks to ensure South Carolina's air, land, water and coast are protected and preserved for generations to come.

Programmatic Overview

The Bureau of Water (BOW) protects and preserves the state's water resources for drinking, swimming, fishing and other uses that benefit South Carolinians. BOW develops and enforces state water quality standards, regulates drinking water providers, issues water quantity permits, implements groundwater protection programs, establishes private well regulations, and issues permits for wastewater discharges from industrial and domestic sources.

Staff conduct water quality monitoring at beaches, lakes and rivers; perform routine inspections of drinking water and wastewater facilities; and issues stormwater permits through the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System for construction sites, municipal systems and industrial sites. Also, as part of the restructuring, the South Carolina Department of Natural Resource's Hydrology and Aquatic Nuisance species programs are now part of BOW.

BOW also oversees the state's Shellfish program, manages the Dam Safety program, and leads the agency's ongoing assessment of the impacts of PFAS and other emerging contaminants in South Carolina's water resources. Program areas within BOW include Drinking Water, Non-Point Source Pollution, Recreational Waters, State Revolving Fund, Stormwater, Wastewater Permitting, Water Quality Certification, Private Wells and the Office of Rural Water.
Through partnerships and community engagement, BOW promotes the state's Adopt-A-Stream volunteer program and encourages hands-on environmental learning at schools through the Champions of the Environment grant opportunity.

The Bureau of Air Quality (BAQ) protects the air we breathe by ensuring regulated industries comply with state and federal laws and regulations establishing air quality standards. BAQ also implements strategies that help maintain the quality of South Carolina's air and works with partners on air quality awareness efforts.

BAQ issues air quality construction and operating permits to industrial, commercial and institutional facilities that emit regulated air pollutants; implements federal and state air toxics programs; performs routine inspections and monitoring of facilities to ensure compliance with air permits and regulations; and oversees the state and federal asbestos program. Programs within BAQ include Air Permitting, Asbestos, Ambient Air Monitoring Network, Diesel Emissions Reduction Act grants, and Ozone Forecasting.

BAQ also helps educate South Carolinians about ways to reduce air pollution, offers free radon test kits to residents, and issues air quality forecasts and alerts so residents can take precautions on days with expected increased concentrations in ozone or other airborne contaminants.

The Bureau of Land and Waste Management (BLWM) provides critical oversight to protects our state's land resources. BLWM regulates mining and solid waste-related activities, oversees the redevelopment of contaminated industrial sites (called "brownfields"), supports statewide recycling and food waste reduction goals, and helps ensure the proper handling of solid and hazardous waste.
Additionally, BLWM issues permits for underground storage tanks; regulates the use of ionizing radiation; licenses the use of radioactive materials; and oversees the investigation, remediation and cleanup of contaminated soil at Superfund, dry-cleaning, above-ground storage tank, and permitted hazardous waste facility locations. BLWM coordinates activities for remediating chemical releases from underground storage tanks. Staff work closely with local governments, schools, businesses and the public to promote waste reduction and recycling.
Programs within BLWM include Brownfields/Voluntary Cleanup, Dry Cleaning Restoration, Hazardous Waste, Infectious Waste, Radioactive Waste, Solid Waste Permitting, Superfund, Radioactive Materials, X-ray, and Underground Storage.

The Bureau of Coastal Management (BCM) helps ensure the appropriate use, development and conservation of coastal resources in South Carolina. BCM oversees the direct permitting of activities that take place within the state's critical areas (coastal waters, tidelands, beaches and the beach/dune system) and uses regulatory management to preserve the state's natural, historic and cultural coastal resources. BCM is committed to maintaining a sustainable South Carolina coast by ensuring development and growth are carefully aligned with the policies and regulations designed to preserve the state's coastal resources.

BCM provides stakeholders with technical, planning and educational resources to aid in the understanding and management of coastal issues and encourages cooperative efforts among state agencies, local governments, community groups and stakeholders for addressing environmental concerns along the coast.

BCM supports initiatives such as Adopt-A-Beach, living shorelines, "Keep Off the Dunes," and the Abandoned and Derelict Vessel Working Group that helps keep abandoned boats from becoming marine hazards.

The Bureau of Regional and Laboratory Services (BRLS) supports our environment by responding to chemical spills and releases, issuing permits for septic system installations, sampling and monitoring air and water, and investigating environmental concerns received from the public.
BRLS performs inspections across South Carolina to ensure environmental standards are met and regulated facilities operate in compliance with their permits. BRLS has roles with the public pools we swim in, the landfills we take our trash to, the underground storage tanks that store gasoline, the wastewater plants that treat sewage, the drinking water systems that make our water safe, and the manufacturing facilities that are part of the state's economy.
BRLS also oversees environmental laboratory certification in the state to ensure valid, quality data are used to determine compliance with state regulations. Additionally, BRLS operates a primary central environmental laboratory in Columbia and seven regional environmental laboratories around the state.

Agency Achievements
July 1, 2025 – June 30, 2026

In its second year, SCDES continued to achieve significant goals and milestones that support its identity as a premier state government agency dedicated to making a difference in the lives of the residents we serve every day. SCDES is at the forefront of environmental preservation that sustainably supports the state's economic and population growth. The following includes some of our year-two successes.

Embracing Modernization and Technology to Support Environmental Protection

- SCDES AI Workgroup & Policy: Recent Progress
  Over the past year, the SCDES AI Workgroup has matured into a strategic driver for agency-wide innovation. The group welcomed an agency AI strategist, who now leads the development and governance of the enterprise AI strategy, responsible AI policy, risk management, and compliance. The workgroup actively supports use case discovery, business ownership, and value realization, enabling staff to leverage AI tools for both operational and scientific tasks. Notably, the agency finalized its AI policy as a living document, adapting to rapid technological changes and ensuring responsible, ethical use of AI. Staff are encouraged to participate in demos and ongoing dialogue, with a focus on practical applications that reduce administrative burdens and enhance decision-making. The agency continues to prioritize maintaining the essential human element in all AI-driven processes, requiring thorough review and verification of AI-generated outputs before use.

- Ongoing Developments & Improvements with ePermitting
  ePermitting remains the cornerstone of SCDES's digital transformation, supporting the full regulatory lifecycle for environmental permitting, licensing, registration, reporting, monitoring, complaints, compliance, and enforcement. Over the past year, ePermitting underwent a major cloud migration, improving stability, efficiency, and accessibility. The migration eliminated the need for VPN access, introduced new URLs for UAT and production environments, and streamlined testing and development processes. The platform now features enhanced user experience, with unified intake forms, service catalogs, and performance dashboards integrated across agency support services. Training resources, troubleshooting guides, and help lines continue to support users, ensuring a smooth transition and ongoing familiarity with the platform. The agency's goal remains to house all environmental permitting processes within ePermitting, delivering a faster, more streamlined approach for both staff and customers.

- Continued Application Migration & Modernization
  SCDES made significant progress modernizing its application ecosystem. This work included structured migration waves that moved legacy systems from the former DHEC environment into modern SCDES-managed platforms. The agency advanced its transition from outdated applications to low-code replacements and commercial off-the-shelf solutions. SCDES also accelerated the enterprise-wide electronic document management migration from AppXtender to OnBase. This shift consolidates document storage, improves searchability, strengthens security, and enables workflow automation. These efforts were supported by dedicated migration teams, strong stakeholder communication, and comprehensive user training resources.

- Updated Abandoned and Derelict Vessels Reporting Tool for Identifying Water Hazards along the Coast
  The Bureau of Coastal Management (BCM) recently enhanced the public boat reporting tool on the MyCoast South Carolina platform. Users can now share additional information including vessel type and disposition and identify the presence of hazardous materials. As part of this enhancement, public boat reports submitted through MyCoast now route directly to appropriate South Carolina Department of Natural Resources (SCDNR) Law Enforcement Division personnel and SCDES coastal compliance project managers for review. BCM has also developed a dedicated coastal ADV Database within MyCoast South Carolina to support collaboration among state, county, and municipal partners working in South Carolina's eight coastal counties. This database allows agencies to efficiently share information, track investigations and coordinate next steps related to ADV cases.

- New Air Quality Map for Protecting Public Health
  Using the latest data from the agency's statewide air monitoring network, SCDES updated its public Air Quality Map for providing daily ozone forecasting and introduced the ability to provide particulate matter alerts when necessary, for events such as wildfires. The updated map was used specifically during two wildfire smoke events in April 2026 when the agency issued Air Quality Alerts for Horry County and Marion County due to air quality impacts from wildfires. The public can view the Air Quality Map and receive recommendations for preventing possible health impacts on days when air quality is impacted due to various factors.

- Launch of SCDES Compliance Calendar Assists Permittees
  The Office of Compliance Assistance (OCA) launched a new SCDES Compliance Calendar designed to help the regulated community monitor critical deadlines across multiple program areas, supporting timely compliance and more efficient regulatory management. The Compliance Calendar highlights routine regulatory requirements that apply to most facilities and provides a clear, consolidated way to stay on top of important compliance dates.

- SCDES Identifies Enforcement Trend Analysis
  The Office of Compliance Assistance (OCA) collaborated with the Office of Technology, ePermitting super-users and agency program areas to analyze enforcement data in order to determine compliance assistance needs. This technological effort allowed the OCA to curate resources, trainings and other resources specifically to compliance assistance needs as identified directly by the regulated community.

Continuous Improvement of the Environmental Permitting Process

- Permitting Workshops Provide Direct Communication with Permittees, Local Officials
  SCDES continues to focus on engaging the regulated community in efforts to modernize the environmental permitting process. The agency held four Permit Central Workshops in FY 25 — in Aiken, Greenville, Lexington, and Rock Hill -- as opportunities to directly connect with local officials, businesses, industries, engineers and permittees. For statewide impact, increased focus has been placed on the value of pre-application meetings for certain categories of permits where conversation between SCDES staff, applicants, and design professional to clarify process and regulatory standards can reduce review timeframes.

- SCDES Creates Permitting Transparency Dashboard
  SCDES has created a Permitting Transparency Dashboard (des.sc.gov/permits) for public use that allows applicants to better gage review times for application types across the department. The dashboard, updated weekly, provides current information and statuses of permits from all of the environmental bureaus, and supports the agency's goal of making a permit decision for most permits within 90 days of receiving a completed permit application.

- SCDES Office of Compliance Assistance is a New Resource for Permittees
  SCDES launched its Office of Compliance Assistance (OCA) in late 2025 to support the regulated community in understanding and meeting state and federal environmental requirements, ultimately leading to a reduction in compliance issues. Leveraging the expertise of seasoned staff across multiple environmental programs, the OCA serves as a knowledgeable, nonregulatory point of contact for businesses and provides clear guidance, practical tools, and sector-specific resources that make it easier for facilities to stay ahead of regulatory deadlines, maintain ongoing compliance, and prevent pollution. SCDES uses these metrics to target reduction programs, boost recycling rates, and extend landfill lifespans.

Supporting Environmental Protection through Effective Collaboration

- SCDES Holds Inaugural South Carolina Brownfields Conference
  SCDES hosted the first South Carolina Brownfields Conference in April 2026 to spotlight this vital redevelopment program. Across South Carolina, underused and environmentally impacted properties are available to be transformed into safe, productive spaces that strengthen local economies and protect public health, through the Brownfields Program. Through collaboration with local governments, developers, community leaders, and state and federal partners, SCDES can helps turn Brownfields into opportunities — creating places where families live, businesses grow, and communities thrive. More than 100 local government representatives, developers, engineers, elected officials and other stakeholders attended the inaugural Brownfields Conference.

- SCDES Hosts Highest-Attended Environmental Assistance Conference
  SCDES hosted an Environmental Assistance Conference in November that brought together more than 400 environmental compliance professionals, local government officials, business and industry representatives, environmental consultants and other stakeholders for a day of learning, connection and information-sharing about environmental permitting. The sold-out conference focused on improvements to permitting processes, presentations about environmental challenges and successes from around the state, and feedback discussions about continual improvement to the services the agency provides.

- SCDES Office of Compliance Assistance Hosts Concrete Batch Facilities Training
  SCDES's Office of Compliance Assistance (OCA) hosted a focused training session for concrete batch facilities to provide updates on the newly issued Air Quality General Permit and offer guidance on the current National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) Industrial Stormwater Permit. The event brought together concrete batch plant personnel, consultants, Municipal Separate Storm Sewer Systems representatives and members of the Carolinas Ready Mixed Concrete Association.

- SCDES Celebrates Environmental Stewardship through Agency Awards

SCDES recognized several individuals and organizations with agency awards for their standout efforts to protect and preserve South Carolina's natural environment through effective stewardship and meaningful partnerships. These award recognitions help foster the critical private-public partnerships that support a united approach to caring for the environment and empower new opportunities for collaboration. SCDES has presented:

- SCDES Power of Partnership Award to the Columbia Fireflies for the team's partnership with SCDES and their shared efforts to promote sustainability in the Midlands community.
- SCDES Community Star Award to Charles Wingard for responsible land stewardship and community impact that serves as an example of leadership, responsibility and service.
- SC Environmental Awareness Award to Melanie Ruhlman, president of "Save Our Saluda", for her outstanding leadership in protecting and improving water quality in the Upper Saluda Watershed.

- SCDES Organizes Inaugural 'Don't Waste Food SC' Summit
  SCDES hosted the first Don't Waste Food SC Summit to convene public- and private-sector partners to collaborate on strategies that cut food waste and strengthen community resilience. Food is the number one item thrown away into landfills. The inaugural summit focused on generating strategic action items among stakeholders for reducing food waste in South Carolina through prevention, donation, composting, education, and infrastructure development.

- SCDES Hosts First SCDES Water Summit
  SCDES held the first SCDES Water Summit as the state's premier gathering of water experts, managers, and stewards to discuss the effective use and sustainable management of South Carolina's natural water resources. The unprecedented economic and population growth South Carolina is experiencing require proactive, data-driven planning to protect one of our most essential resources. The Water Summit was a day of collaboration and connection, all centered on protecting and preserving South Carolina's lakes, water and aquifers, now and for generations to come.

Proactively Preparing for a Healthy, Resilient South Carolina

- SCDES Leads Long-term Water Management Efforts for WaterSC
  SCDES was the lead coordinating agency of WaterSC, which was created by Executive Order 2024-22 to address growing water demand from economic development and population growth in South Carolina. In addition to convening 13 meetings of WaterSC participants, SCDES held six listening sessions across the state to directly involve the public in the water planning process.

- Continued Monitoring of Emerging Environmental Contaminants
  Utilizing proviso 55.10 funds and working collaboratively with EPA, in-state NGOs, and the Environmental Council of States (of which SCDES Director Myra Reece is a past-president), SCDES is working to better understand how per and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) enter our environment and the fate and transport of them once they are there. his class of chemicals has had wide use in consumer products and industrial applications because of their useful physical and chemical properties like stain, heat, oil, grease and water resistance. They have been used in everything from dental floss to fire-fighting foams. Unfortunately, some of the properties that made them useful also negatively impact public health. PFAS chemicals are sometimes called "forever chemicals" because of their persistence in the environment. The SCDES Office of Science Services conducts and provides oversight of several PFAS initiatives, including a private well sampling project, an ambient water monitoring project as well as an electronic data management system which will store all agency PFAS data. This database will make data more accessible and therefore more useful in enhancing our understanding of the fate and transport of these chemicals in South Carolina.

- SCDES Develops 2025 South Carolina State Water Plan
  SCDES developed the 2025 South Carolina State Water Plan, a comprehensive, data-driven strategy for the long-term protection and sustainable management of the state's water resources for the next 50 years. The plan was created in response to record-breaking population growth, economic expansion, and increased water demand across sectors such as agriculture, industry, energy, tourism, forestry, and public water supply. The 2025 South Carolina State Water Plan won a Notable State Document Award from the S.C. State Library for its excellence in content, research, and public value.

- 2026 Gulf & South Atlantic Shellfish Conference Unites Stakeholders on Long-term Management
  SCDES hosted the 2026 Gulf & South Atlantic Shellfish Conference to unite researchers, fisheries professionals, and stakeholders to discuss shellfish management, aquaculture, and coastal resilience. Conversations focused on the successful long-term management of shellfish areas amid the challenges of population and industry growth, changing climate trends, and additional impacts.

- SCDES's Proactive Lithium-Ion Battery Messages Becomes a National Resource
  The U.S. EPA has adopted SCDES's Take Charge: Be Battery Smart public education campaign as a national resource for state agencies, industries and stakeholders. Lithium-ion batteries are becoming more and more prominent in household and industry devices and electronics, and they are contributing to a growing national trend of fires in households and at drop-off centers and landfills. SCDES's Be Battery Smart campaign educates the public on save battery use, especially for lithium-ion batteries.

- SCDES Develops First South Carolina Statewide Waste Characterization Study for Identifying Statewide Trends in Waste Disposal and Recycling
  SCDES generated the state's first comprehensive South Carolina Statewide Waste Characterization Study to measure the types and amounts of materials entering state landfills. The Study is critical to providing an in-depth understanding of solid waste disposal and recycling habits in the state, providing important metrics for targeting waste-reduction programs, boosting recycling rates, and extending landfill lifespans.
